"Jim Reed" Might Be Good Name for Rampaging River

(Special To The News)

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 24.—Passed through Jefferson City, Mo., the home of the state prison and the state capitol. The worst in the state is sent there.

The sheriff was on our train and he had two men who had escaped and he was taking them back to the legislature.

You remember Missouri got so sore at Jim Reed one time because he woutan't let 'em join the League of Nations that they was going to hang him.

Well, they are naming the Missouri River after him now, and maybe the Mississippi.

Yours for the news,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Wise auto drivers were detouring the Highland avenue and Jefferson street hills this morning by the scores. Most all of the local drivers came down the hill via Rural avenue or North Mercer street, two unpaved streets, because of the icy coating that covered the paved thoroughfares.

Volant makes a bid for notice in the forecasts for an early spring. The report from Volant today is to the effect that many of the residents of the village noted a large flock of wild geese flying over the town, on Wednesday.

Although it is not within their jurisprudence, the street car operators of this city often help out women who are carrying babies and packages at the same time. Often we have seen Eddie of the North Hill run go clear to the curb to help out a burdened woman. And it was only yesterday that he stopped his car and waited for a full two minutes until one of his prospective passengers, carrying a baby, could reach the car.

The sudden break in the cold weather has put the perambulator parade on Highland avenue working again. Every warm day there are endless numbers of mothers who march up and down the avenue, wheeling baby carriages, and giving their Young Ideas an airing. But there is one mother who Pa Newc is particularly fond of watching. Aside from wheeling the carriage, to the handle of it she has two little dogs tied clad in blue blankets. And all seem to enjoy themselves.

An interesting demonstration took place at the police station here recently. Bullet proof vests were demonstrated, also a gas bomb revolver.

If the robberies of service stations in the rural districts continue, it may be necessary for them to be fortified with burglar alarms, like many of the banks.

How to open a Renaissance "high boy" is perplexing every member of the staff at The Castleton. For, when the furniture was purchased, the salesman forgot to tell them how it opens, and on the facade there is not a sign of a key hole or a hinge. And every now and then, Manager Slack when he has nothing else to do, goes down into the lounge and feels over the surface, trying to find the secret spring which he feels sure will open it. What it may contain is another mystery which will be solved only by the opening. There is something in it, and the something rattles in a most enticing manner.

Speaking of dogs, Pa Newc saw one yesterday which reminds him of one of his childhood companions, who was called Hans. The dog of yesterday looked very much like Hans, he was about three feet long and a foot high. On turning a sharp corner, Pa Newc feels sure that he could meet himself.

The weatherman was right in his forecast yesterday that another cold

Predict Congress Will Adopt Naval Building Program

Republican Leaders Endorse House Committee's Draft Of Big Naval Program

BUILD 15 CRUISERS DURING THREE YEARS

Program As Drafted Not Altogether Inconsistent To Coolidge Views

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, February 24.—America's newest naval building program as drafted by the house naval affairs committee was endorsed by Republican leaders today and its adoption by congress predicted.

Although some dissatisfaction was expressed because the program does not bring American naval strength to parity with Great Britain, it was characterized as "a step in the right direction."

The building of 15 cruisers and one aircraft carrier, all to be laid down in three years and completed in six at a cost of $274,000,000, would round out the present badly balanced navy, exponents of the program said.

Door Left Open.

The door is still left open for President Coolidge to carry out much of the Wilbur $740,000,000 program, it was declared. Authority exists under the 1916 act for the president to seek appropriations for nine destroyer

County Bar Members Enjoy Great Program At Annual Banquet

Back again at the old grind, noses buried deep in musty law books, thinking only in terms of Gibbons vs. Ogden and the Dartmouth College case, are the lawyers, judges and law students of Lawrence county following a fleeting four-hour break in their studious habits which took place Thursday evening in the Crystal ballroom of The Castleton, when the annual banquet of the Lawrence County Bar Association took place. About 75 were present.

Perhaps sensing the sort of affair it would be, judges who would have visited with the Lawrence county branch of the law at this time, wisely sent their congratulations and regrets through the mails. Other lawyers, members of the Bar Association, thought that the latter part of February would be a perfect time to visit Florida or some other almost unheard of place.

Surprise of Evening

The surprise of the evening came just after the banquet, when it was announced to T. W. Dickey, toastmaster and present president of the Bar Association, that the members of the committee who had functioned to the best of their ability in concocting the dinner, thoughtlessly had forgotten to provide any program, and that being the case, a motion was made for an adjournment.

Protesting against this unprecedented proceeding, William J. Caldwell took the floor and demanded, as a paid up member of the association, that some form of entertainment be provided or that a year's dues be forfeited. The association unanimously voted that entertainment be provided.

Because they were for the most part full-fledged, and because dragons at play do much the same things as when they are working, entertain-

Bessemer And Plaingrove Tie For First Place

Final Winner Of Class "A" Literary Contest Has Not Been Determined

WAMPUM WINS IN CLASS "B" CONTEST

Last Programs In Big Literary High School Contests Are Held Last Night

As a result of the Lawrence county high school literary contests which were brought to a close with four contests last night, it is announced that Wampum won first place in the class "B" or three year high school contests and Bessemer and Plaingrove are tied for first place in the class "A." or four year schools.

In the class "B" contest Wampum had 9 points, Volant 4; Harlansburg 4 and Shenango 3.

In the class "A" Bessemer had 9 points; Plaingrove 9; Princeton 6, New Wilmington 5; Mt. Jackson 4; Enon Valley 1, and Union 1.

Must Settle Tie

It is not known definitely just what will be done regarding the tie between Bessemer and Union, but some plan will be devised for settling the matter. This plan will be announced later.

In the contest held at Wampum last night between Wampum and Volant, Wampum won the declamation, essay and debate and Volant the oration.

There was a mistake made in the counting of the points following the contest and it was first announced that Volant had won the debate, but investigation showed that Wampum had won it, according to later announcement.

In the contest last night between Princeton and Bessemer at Princeton, the declamation, was won by Princeton, and the essay, oration and debate by Bessemer.

Plaingrove and New Wilmington contested at the latter place, the result being that Plaingrove won the declamation, essay and debate and New Wilmington the oration.

At Mt. Jackson, where Enon and Mt. Jackson contested, Mt. Jackson won the declamation, essay and debate and Enon the oration.

Horlansburg and Shenango contest at Shenango resulted in Harlansburg winning the declamation, and oration, while Shenango won the essay and debate.

A very good musical program was given with Prof. Charles G. Lindner in charge.

The contests throughout the county this year were largely attended and much interest was shown both by the students and parents.

Claim "Torch Slayer" Known To Officers; Arrest Is Imminent

Police Declare Dope Addict Is Responsible For Fiendish Crime

Assert Some Astonishment Will Be Created When Arrest Is Made

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Search for the fiend who callously murdered Miss Margaret Brown, cultured governess, by burning her to death when she resisted his advances, centered today in "the swamp," the slum section of Newark, N. J., and a rendezvous of criminals and dope fiends."

The identity of the "torch slayer," hidden in his letter of confession, which he enclosed with the two $1,000 bonds and one $500 banknote he sent the police yesterday, is believed to be known and his arrest only hours away.

Suspect Drug Addict

He is a drug addict who comes from a well-to-do, if not wealthy New York family, according to the New Jersey constabulary. They say his fondness for narcotics was engendered while he attended a college of medicine in Greater New York and that he flunked out of the university while within sight of an M. D. degree.

"Within twenty-four hours he will be under arrest." "Captain John J. Lamb of Troop B, New Jersey state police, declared this morning.

"The man who committed this crime is known to us. You reporters will be amazed when you learn who he is. He's a man spoiled by dope. Lately he became so notorious about his sniffing of it that New Jersey police got to be pretty wise to him."

Broadway's bright places knew the man shortly after he dropped out of college, according to the New Jersey police. He was then known as a drinker, but later took to dope. The next step was downward to the back alleys, where the confirmed addicts lurked.

In the letter he sent to the Bernardsville, N. J., police he admitted he drove to Newark after the crime. In fact the communication was postmarked Newark. The search in Newark and roadhouse resorts along the Irvington-Newark Turnpike is being conducted by more than a score of state police.

The slayer is an unskilled criminal and is in a remorseful frame of mind. He said so in his confession. If he adheres to the threat he made in his letter he will commit suicide when arrest is imminent. He is the owner of a blue Stutz sedan and he wrote the police that he "will drive it to hell"—if necessary to escape.

The confession was mailed Tuesday.

Special Senate Committee Visits Moon Run District, Near Pittsburgh

MINERS ALL LIVING IN RUDE BARRACKS

Unusual Degree Of Hopefulness Found By Investigators Among Miners

By KENNETH CLARK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 24.—Another story of squalor, hardships and deprivations was unfolded before the special senate coal investigating committee during an inspection today of the Moon Run mines and camps of the Pittsburgh Coal company.

As in all districts where the operators have evicted striking miners from company houses, the United Mine Worker has built unpainted shacks, called barracks, to house its dependents. Approaching the camp from a distance the barracks looked like hen houses in some farm yard.

A chill wind blew up a fitful snow but strikers and their families hung out of windows and doors to talk to the committee members. The houses were cold and dark, but spotlessly clean. The mud underfoot came up to the ankles.

Find Hopefulness.

The committee found an unusual degree of hopefulness among the

"Phantom Sniper" Fires At Mayor And School Head

Police Renew Search For "Sniper" In Small Town Near Camden, New Jersey

(International News Service)

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 24.—Apparently tiring of small game, the phantom sniper journeyed to Pitman, N. J., during the night and fired at Mayor David A. Stanton, his 46th victim since last Thanksgiving Day.

While Camden and Philadelphia police questioned suspects and renewed the search for him, the elusive marksman spent a busy day roaming the country from Merchantville to Pitman, bagging five victims.

The sniper's shot shattered glass in a garage owned by Mayor Stanton. A dark sedan, lights dimmed, passed as the window broke. While the mayor and his police were examining the hole, three quick shots were heard, and the same sedan speeded past again.

M. G. Messinger, principal of the Swell public school, twice was fired upon as he descended the same staircase in the school.

Lindy Delays Completion Of Secret Flight

Col Lindbergh Rests And Remains Entirely Out Of Public Eye

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Feb. 24.—Rest and seclusion at Selfridge Field until late tonight or early tomorrow was the program today for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh here on a mystery mission said to involve the inauguration of a new air line.

The Flying Colonel is the guest of Maj. Thomas G. Lanphier, commandant of the first pursuit group at Selfridge. Secrecy continues to envelop his plans due to the insistance that he be kept out of the public eye.

Secrecy in Plans.

Lindbergh called off another "mystery mission" hop scheduled for this morning and decided to remain quietly at the field.

Secrecy envelopes Lindbergh's plans although it is rumored that today's trip will be a continuation of the undisclosed mission that brought him to the government flying field near Mt. Clemens for a conference with Maj. Thomas G. Lanphier, commandant of the first pursuit group and others.

Speculation today connects Lindbergh's mission with the report a new airway line is to be opened by Stout Air Services, Inc., to carry express, mail and passengers from Chicago to Albany by way of Milwaukee, Grand Rapids, Detroit, Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse. Connection it is said is to be made at Albany with planes flying directly to New York.

Lindbergh and his party consisting of Harry F. Knight, president of the St. Louis Flying club; Maj. William B. Robertson, Harold M. Bixby, president of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce and B. F. Mahoney, who built the "Spirit of St. Louis," left Selfridge field last night to attend a banquet, the whereabouts of which were undisclosed.

Yesterday Lindbergh, Major Lanphier and the St. Louis business men flew to Ford airport to participate in a conferense with Edsel Ford, William B. Mayo and other officials of the Ford organization.

Hoover's Reply On Prohibition Is Live Theme

Both Drys And Wets Seem Partially Satisfied With Hoover's Dry Statement

FAILS TO ANSWER DIRECT QUESTIONS

Politicians Feel That Cabinet Member Acted Wisely In First Test

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Herbert Hoover appeared today to have accomplished the seeming miracle of stating his position on prohibition without mortally offending either the fanatical drys or the wringing wets.

Neither side is entirely satisfied, but neither side is entirely disappointed. Hence the practical politicians or Washington were ready today to accord the palm to the cabinet candidate for the Presidency for shrewdness in handling an explosive subject.

Both Sides Satisfied

The drys publicly professed themselves satisfied with Mr. Hoover's assertion that he did not favor the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, and that he was in favor of the "efficient, vigorous and sincere" enforcement of all laws enacted thereunder.

The wets proclaimed themselves with the fact that Mr. Hoover conspicuously did not endorse the divine wisdom of the Volstead act, nor did he state, as Senator Borah invited him to state, that he would oppose its modification. He pointedly ignored that part of the Borah questionnaire, and he was similarly silent on the question of whether he believed in letting each state establish its own definition of what is and what is not intoxicating liquor under the eighteenth amendment. Thus he refused to mortgage his future on the broad question of modification.

Down deep, the drys are a little more dissatisfied with the Hoover letter than the wets. But the fact is not being proclaimed from the housetops.

Anti-Saloon League officials privately voiced some disappointment over the fact that Mr. Hoover neglected to say he believed implicitly in the wisdom of the Volstead law, as other candidates, including Senator Willis and Senator Curtis, have done, but such comment was made in the confidence of private conversation and not publicly. Their disappoint-

Mercury Hovers Near Twenty Degree Mark Today; May Drop Lower Tonight

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb 24.—With the arrival of another cold snap, the mercury hugged the 20 degree mark today and stayed there, but will drop to about 10 tonight the weather bureau predicted.

Pittsburgh along with the rest of the country except patches in the extreme southwest and northeast, was under the influence of a gigantic high pressure area, the weather bureau said, carrying cold weather and clear skies.

The frigidity will linger tomorrow, but Sunday will be mild, according to the bureau here. There will be little wind to mar the crispness. The velocity today was only ten miles an hour.

Junior Order Has Banquet

Washington Dinner Is Event Of Thursday Evening At Second Church

WILLIAM JOHNSON ACTS AS TOASTMASTER

Washington's birthday was observed by Castle council 365 of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics when on Thursday evening the annual Washington dinner was held in the dining room of the Second U. P. church.

William Johnson acted as toastmaster of the evening and introduced the speakers and entertainers of the evening program. After the serving of the meal, which was a splendid one, Miss Elizabeth Houston was introduced and sang a soprano solo. She was accompanied by Miss Margaret Graham. Miss Lucille Emery appeared twice on the program with humorous readings. For the local council, two speakers were heard, Clifford Johnson and William Shipe, the latter delivering a humorous address which added much to the evening.

Two speakers from outside the local council were heard. D. K. Horner, a former state counselor, a resident of Wilkinsburg, Pa., spoke on the history of the order, going back to the time when the mechanics of 75 years ago organized. Tracing the history of the order down to the present day, he said that the order was largely responsible for the placing on the statute books of Pennsylvania the free public school system which we now enjoy. He also referred to other beneficent legislation which the order had sponsored and said that there were now 70,000 on the rolls of the organization in this state.

Bart Richards, representative in the general assembly, spoke on "Fraternities in Government" and went into the matter of the responsibility of all organized groups in holding up the hands of men and women who are charged with the administration of law.

Approximately 100 were in attendance and apparently the banquet was one of the most successful the organization has ever held here.

Pa Newc is glad to welcome to New Castle the delegates to the Western Pennsylvania College Y. M. C. A. conference, which is inaugurated this afternoon, and will continue through Sunday. Eight or ten colleges are sending their representatives here for the meetings.

Sudden winter weather conditions following the rain of Thursday afternoon and evening, caused a coat of ice to form on the streets last night, which in the hill districts proved very dangerous, especially to motorists. This was especially true on the Highland avenue hill, where late last night, three or four machines became entangled in a mixup at the Stewart place curve, with the result that street car traffic was tied up for nearan hour. The result was that operators of several regular runs were approximately an hour late in getting home.

LINDY DELAYS COMPLETION OF SECRET FLIGHT

phier landed their army pursuit planes in a field at Southfield and Eleven-Mile roads when Lanphier's ignition failed. They were taken to Dearborn in an automobile.

The planes came down in Lathrup townsite, near the modest farm of John Cornair.

Cornair heard the planes and went out to see what it was all about. He saw a tall, yellow-haired boy clamber out of one plane, he said, and asked him "What the, hell's the matter son?"

"Son" smiled and Major Lanphier introduced himself.

"Do you know who you're calling son?" the major asked.

Cornair didn't. When Lanphier told him "it took the wind out of his sails," to use his own words.

Earl Lathrup, in a real estate office a little farther down the road, arrived in the meanwhile. He offered to drive the two airmen to Dearborn. They were in a hurry.

The colonel rode with Lathrup, while Major Lanphier shivered in the rumble seat. Major Lanphier took the rumble seat only after an argument, however. Lindbergh insisted that as the younger of the two he should take the more uncomfortable position. Lanphier countered that he was the much more warmly clad of the two.

leaders and three submarines.

"I think there is little question but that the program will be adopted by congress," said Speaker Longworth. It probably is about all that could be expected in the present session."

Rep. Tilson of Connecticut, Republican leader who deserted President Coolidge last year to join the "big navy" forces, said the program was "a forward movement."

"The program is not essentially inconsistent with the president's ideas", said Tilson. "It provides for 15 cruisers in three years and the president suggested 25 in five years."

No Paper Navy.

The committee, according to members, was determined to avoid the authorization of a "paper navy". While President Coolidge suggested 74 ships be laid down in five years, he refused to allow definite time limits to go in the bill.

Rep. Butler (R) of Pennsylvania, committee chairman, disclosed that the strength of the British or Japanese navies was not mentioned during the committee's secret deliberations on the bill.

The committee, he said, did not want to carry a program beyond the 1931 renewal of the Washington naval limitation conference, and chose as a comporary standard the 300,000 cruiser tonnage proposed by the United States at Geneva last summer as our minimum need.

HOOVER'S REPLY ON PROHIBITION IS LIVE THEME

ment lay in the fact that Mr. Hoover "did not go all the way" in endorsing prohibition "as is".

Causes Controversy

The Hoover letter was the subject of considerable argument and controversy today in political quarters in the capital, although there was universal agreement that he had handled a politically dangerous topic with a great deal of skill and tact.

The principal argument centered about, not only Mr. Hoover's failure to answer specifically two of Borah's most pointed questions, but about his closing observation, which was:

"Our country has deliberately undertaken a great social and economic experiment, noble in motive and far-reaching in purpose. It must be worked out constructively."

This was regarded by some cynical politicians as almost as enigmatical as Mr. Coolidge's "I do not choose to run", for the question that the wets and drys were asking themselves was: "In what way lies construction?"

Fails to Commit Self

The drys, of course, believe that to work out the prohibition problem constructively means more rigid laws and more severe penalties. Conversely, the wets believe that construction and progress lie in the modification of the Volstead law, and the enactment of laws under the eighteenth amendment that will command more universal respect. To their way of thinking, beer-and-light-wine point the way to constructive enforcement and progress.

Which Mr. Hoover himself believes he did not say.

There was unanimity among the politicians, however, that Mr. Hoover has not hurt himself in the approaching primary battle in Ohio with Senator Willis. There is considerable wet sentiment in Ohio, and Senator Willis is the Anti-Saloon League's spokesman on the Senate floor. Thus the wets, they believe, will inevitably drift to the less dry of the two contenders.

ment was quickly forthcoming when John S. Powers objected to the seating of a second judge for this court, on the grounds of unconstitutionality, citing Dred Scott case as authority. W. Walter Braham presented reasons why an extra judge should be seated, and it was the ruling of Acting Judge T. W. Dickey that he should be sworn in. Hamilton A. Wilkison was duly sworn in and for a few moments court adjourned until it could be moved to the other end of the ballroom.

Court Is Opened

Proudly ensconced on a shoe shine stand, surrounded by ginger ale cases and confronted with a huge pitcher and two very small glasses, with his compatriot perched on the top of a high stepladder at his side, Judge Dickey opened court by appointing Edwin A. Logan as court crier and Silent George Muse as tipstaff. And with that, court was formally opened.

Heading a long list of petitions was that presented by Clyde Gibson, which asked for the removal of the chalet de necessite in the main jury room to the little jury room because of the expense it was to the county. This, he stated, would bring all the domt together, in what the French call squadron fashion. This action was approved by the court and work will commence at once. At this point it was also noted that workmen are constructing a cistern or cesspool at the rear of the courtrooms to be used by tobacco-spitting members of the bar.

Other petitions were presented by Roy Mercer, Roy Jamison and J. P. Lockhart, after which court was adjourned for 10 minutes because of the insistence of one of the lady jurors. During the intermission vocal solos were rendered by William "Billy" Williams, accompanied by Alvah M. Shumaker at the piano.

After intermission the court was again seated at the risk of life and limb and breaking ginger ale cases. Other motions were entertained and a case of the Almira Home vs. the Community Chest was settled in favor of the home.

Sentence court was next held, with Culprit Edwin K. Logan getting a "stiff jolt in the old ladies' home" for the stellar "second story work" in the community during the last month. Charles R. Davis and Henry Akens presented pleas.

After an examination of the law students by Wylie McCaslin, court was declared adjourned and the Bar Association, singly and collectively, went home to those who wait, and wait and wait.

The committee in charge of the affair, consisting of Clarence A. Patterson, W. Walter Braham, Alva M. Shumaker, W. K. Logan and J. W. Rhodes, are to be congratulated, say the members of the association, on the splendid evening's entertainment which they provided, and although some shafts of wit were more than pointed, yet not one of the lawyers or judges went away feeling hurt.

which would dive the fugitive ample time to get a good start on the authorities if he has left Newark. He said he met the governess in New York City, drove her to Lovers' Lane alongside Woodland Grove, a New Jersey hot dog park, and when she resisted his advances, struck her on the head. Thinking her dead, he poured gasoline on her unconscious form and put a match to it while she was still alive. She was found ablaze by passing motorists at 11:10 p. m. Monday night.

Other cities in north New Jersey, including Hoboken and Jersey City, were being searched for the desperate fugitive.

Buffalo Woman

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 24.—Miss Margaret Brown, New York City governess who was slain on a lonely New Jersey road, was born and educated in Buffalo, a check up revealed today. She left here when she was eighteen years old. She has relatives here, two aunts, Mrs. Geo. Hammersmith and Mrs. Louis M. Meyers who are now at Fort Lee, N. J., to attend the funeral which will be held this afternoon.

Margaret Brown came to Buffalo in January, 1926, to recuperate from an operation.

Her step aunts, Mrs. George Hammersmith and Mrs. Louis M. Meyers, both of Buffalo, N. Y. were to attend. Besides a brother, Ferdinand Brown, of Fort Lee, Miss Brown is survived by a sister, Mary Brown, living in California.

Talking Bulldog

Princess Jacqueline, thoroughbred French bulldog, owned by Mrs. Mabel A. Robinson, of Bangor, Me., proved a sensation at the Boston dog show by her ability to talk. In a high, squeaky voice she is described by spectators as saying "Hello," "Out," "I won't" and "I will," and can even spell the name of her city when requested.

Guard Rail May Be Constructed On East Street Hill

Probabilities are that a "guard rail" will be placed on the west side of East street, north of Shaw, by city employes in an effort to prevent future damages to a property located at the sharp bend. According to the property owner, automobiles have crashed into the house several times.

It was said that there are some persons in the vicinity who object to a one-way order which would permit only north-bound traffic.

Council said that while they believe a one-way traffic order would be best, it would not legally protect the city in case of accident.

They were advised by Solicitor White to erect a line of posts and string heavy cable through the posts as this would legally protect the city and also check automobiles from plunging into houses while journeying down the steep hill.

WOMAN, BLINDED 30 YEARS, REGAINS SIGHT

piercing scream brought her husband, Charles Sillery, into the room.

Awakes With Sight.

"Charlie—Charlie—I can see," she muttered incoherently in her joy.

But Mrs. Sillery stopped. It wasn't Charlie before her. This man had white hair, was a little stooped about the shoulders, was a litle older. She remembered him as a robust man with bushy dark hair. Now his hair was white. Mrs. Sillery looked into a mirror. Her own hair was white and a different face stared out at her.

She asked for the children—babies she called them—for when she "went to sleep" they were babies but now grown into young men and women. One was hastily summoned from Hammond, Ind. Another was called from Indianapolis.

A reunion was held today.

Mrs. Sillery gazed at the house, the yard, the chickens and the sun. All had changed. In a shocked voice she reprimanded her daughter for having bobbed hair and short skirts. Of course she knew the girl's habits had changed. She had "felt" it but seeing it was different.

Everything Changes.

"No, I have never seen a movie. I want to see this Charlie Chaplin and that young man Valentino—dead?—Oh, the children didn't tell me. I want to see an airplane. I have heard them.

"I want to see automobiles, and pretty dresses,and colors—lots of colors. I want to see bright things. I want to see the Grand Canyon mountains, oh, I just want to see and see and see. I have been dead for years. Dead in this little house.

"It seems funny—my friends I mean—I knew them when they were all so different. They came to the house and their voices were the same but how they have changed. They are older. I can't get over how the earth and the world changes. But it has been a long time—thirty years.

"I must see Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne in the movies. Oh, they are not?

"Do you want to see me play the piano—no, not hear me—see me?"

She arose and walked over to the piano which was a new one. She started to play, glancing at the sheet of music. She stopped because she had forgotten how to read notes. She started to close her eyes and play by ear which she did splendidly but then she stopped again.

"I don't want to play by ear," she said with a smile. "You see, I just want to see—see the music sheets, the notes and piano—but see. I never want to "hear" anything again. I don't even want to sleep nights because I have been asleep now for thirty long, long years."

Mrs. Sillery did not know how she regained her sight. Neither do physicians. It is as much a mystery as to the manner in which she became blind.

The senior patrol leader called the meeting to order. Several drills were carried out and good turns given. Patrol recesses were then held during which time tests were practiced and passed. Several games were played and after announcements given by the scoutmaster the meeting came to a close.

strikers. The women especially were cheerful, although they have to pinch and scrape to prepare meals on the $6 a week that is allowed each family by the union.

"What do you have to eat?" Senator Gooding (R) of Idaho, chairman, asked one woman whose brood of ragged children tugged at her skirts.

"Bread and coffee, sometimes potatoes," she replied with a smile.

The non-union workers in the mine reported that they were receiving 53 cents a ton for mining coal, and often, at the end of two weeks, drew less than $5 in cash for their hours of labor. FEDERATION BECOMES COUNTY ORGANIZATION

The Federation of Women's Clubs formerly known as the City Federation, has been merged into the Lawrence County Federation of Women's Clubs.

The following letter with a copy of the constitution was sent to each of the 21 clubs October 18, 1927.

By action of its Executive Board, after seventeen years of earnest, educational and cultural service to the community, the "City Federation of Womens Clubs" has been merged into the "Lawrence County Federation of Womens Clubs," to the end, that all groups of women, wherever located in the county, holding community interests, may become an integral part of this organization, sharing its life, increasing its opportunities, and furthering its activities.

In adopting this measure, the EXECUTIVE BOARD acts in accord with the policy recently inaugurated by the State Federation of Women's Clubs, and which was particularly stressed at the Williamsport meeting.

We ask that the enclosed copy of the Constitution, submitted December 21st, by the committee appointed for that purpose, be read with an open mind before your club, and that constructive criticism be made upon any or all parts of it. We also ask that this copy with its written suggestions be returned to the committee not later than February 1st.

Bathing Beauties Dazzle Crowds In Capitol Theatre

There are going to be a lot of theatre fans repeat at the Capitol before Saturday night. After getting one look at the Bathing Beauties who are appearing there until Saturday night some of the folks wanted a job lot rate on tickets.

Really the girls are gorgeous. Let Flo Ziegfeld glorify the American girl as much as he cares to, even Zig can't get them all and if he has anything much better looking than the lassies down at the Capitol, it's rather useless to spend fare enough to go to New York.

Miss Ohio is there, so is Miss Cleveland, and Miss Washington, D. C., and Miss Fashion Queen of 1927, and if this bouquet doesn't give your appreciative eye something to appraise, then by all means don't go, you're hopeless. With them are other beauties and a number of male artists who complete the act. By all means see the girls.

Wilson and Ardell offer "The Goofy Golfer" and the act is goofy enough to keep you laughing all the time its on. Harry Sykes offers a pantomime bicycle act which is mighty clever. The picture, "The 13th Juror is a drama of unusual interest.

Monday, "Sailors' Wives" will open at the Capitol with Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes. Dorothy Circus, offers a collection of trained animals that will appeal. This bill will close Wednesday.

HIGH TIDE IS APPROACHING

SPRING is an exciting and dangerous season. More people die in March, in temperate latitudes, than in any other month of the year; more people are admitted to insane asylums, and the efficiency curves of factory workers start in March on an upward leap that does not sag until June.

Spring fever is no mere popular myth; the season stirs the blood of all, and its results can be plotted and charted in terms of human efficiency as well as of temperature. There is a seasonal heightening of both mental and physical activity which has its good results and its bad.

May, each year, marks the high-water mark of the suicide rate; college records show that spring also helps to solve problems in mathematics—and essentially the same process is responsible for both results. Efficiency and exhaustion are close neighbors.

Just why spring is so exciting a season no one precisely knows. Temperature has a great deal to do with it. Men work best when the temperature averages from 60 to 65, not rising above 70 in the heat of the day.

Man cannot control the movements of the earth about the sun or keep the world at springtide; but he has learned to do much that once seemed impossible. He can produce the equivalent of a seashore sun in a dark city bedroom; he has invented automatic, self-feeding furnaces that keep his home and office at whatever temperature he decrees. In doing this he has produced conditions under which he can show March efficiency in other months of the year.

JURY SHADOWING IS NOT TO BE TOLERATED

TO ATTEMPT to shadow the members of a jury engaged in trying a case is nothing more or less than an effort "to obstruct justice" and is not to be tolerated. All of the protestations of innocent intent "cannot make it right," and the action of the Burns operatives in trailing the jurors in the Sinclair oil case reveals a "most sinister aspect."

Such are the findings of Judge Siddons in the District Supreme Court of Washington in imposing fines and jail sentences on Harry F. Sinclair, the oil magnate; his assistant, Henry Mason Day, and William J. Burns and his son, the detectives who had charge of the operatives who did the shadowing. In many ways it is more important than the oil cases themselves. It is a notice that justice is not to be interfered with in any manner.

It is well to keep in mind that the judge did not base his action on any actual improper solicitation on the part of the detectives, although there was an intimation of something of the kind in the evidence. Sinclair and the others were convicted and sentenced under the technical charge of "contempt of court."

The incident in the long-drawn-out oil cases is bound to have a far-reaching effort. It establishes the legal precedent that it is illegal to shadow jurors although the usual contest by appeal has been filed and the decision will be long fought by those found guilty. Its importance will be apparent to every lawyer and every court in the land.

DECLINE OF OBESITY

TEN or fifteen years ago the American man of middle age was almost invariably flabby and overweight. Once out of high school or college he dropped regular exercise, and his physical exertion, aside from trips to and from the daily grind, was limited to a fishing or hunting trip once or twice a year. He lived well and felt no obligation whatever to preserve the slim figure of youth. When nine out of ten men had a "bay window" why should anyone object to possessing one?

Times have changed since then. The public parks and country clubs are open to games and indoor sports keep men fit throughout the winter. Golf was never more popular. And the business man of today works faster and harder than he did before the war. This speeding-up process serves as a natural reducer. The American man of today in nine cases out of ten retains his figure.

It has been noticed that American women also are becoming more slender. Their fat reducers are employment in factories, offices and stores, more active interest in strenuous athletics, dieting and a modern life that is in every way less sedentary than that of a decade back. If there is a class waxing fatter, it comprises those good housewives whose labors have been lightened by modern appliances and who have not entered into the more active life of the "new woman."

Viewed in this light the feeble efforts of middle-aged women of leisure to give up candy and to undergo calisthenics are somewhat pathetic. Once afflicted with obesity they cannot expect to take off in fifteen minutes exercise a day what they have taken years to put on and what they are still putting on twenty-three hours and forty-five minutes a day.

Movie director says a fighting chin is hard to find, yet many do their fighting that way.

A New York judge describes marriage as "an expensive luxury." That man isn't theorizing.

As the years pass, prison life is made more and more attractive and more and more easily dodged.

People who spend their time talking about hats women wear have mighty little to occupy their minds.

Culture, however, is something more than can be obtained by spending 10 minutes each day with a dull book.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:47. Sun rises tomorrow 6:40.

The storm of protest and indignation which is sweeping the country as a result of the report made as a result of the inquiry into the sinking of the submarine S-4 is due to the injustice that is done the commander of the sunken submarine. When a man loses his life in the line of duty, it's rather unfair to add the ignominy of blaming him for being the cause of his own death and that of his companions.

The fellow who believes that his money is safer in his home than in a bank is just about as near right as the fellow who builds a chicken coop without a door and expects the chickens to stay at home.

When a fellow has an old, worn-out lizzie or perhaps the running gears of what was once a real car, and trades it in on a new car and thinks he is getting a better price, you can bet he's a loser. There's nobody in business for fun.

The individual who goes to the sunny South or fair California now to escape the winter weather is just spending his money for fun or else he's fooling himself. It's just the same as buying a winter overcoat in the springtime.

Here's one time the fellow on foot will put it over on the motorist. New tariff rates on the Wheeling-Belmont Bridge Company toll bridge at Wheeling, W. Va., eliminates altogether the fee of one cent that has been charged in the past for those on foot. The fees for motor cars remain unchanged. And, what's more, the fellow on foot does not have to buy gasoline.

Republics, it has been said, are ungrateful. But there is one of which we are all proud and of which we believe that such a statement is entirely untrue. It is and has honored those who fought for it in any and all wars and it also honors and confers great benefits on those who help make it outstanding in times of peace. There never has been, nor will there ever be, another government, in spite of the faults of those who live under it, that will do better by its people.

Congress has provided for the free transportation of mothers and widows of World War veterans buried in Europe on a pilgrimage to the American cemeteries where they may see the spot where the loved ones are resting. When a government recognizes the mother or a widow of a man who fought and died for his country, it has done the utmost that could be expected of it.

We don't blame that Cleveland bride-elect who now declines to have anything to do with the groom-elect who took poison just as the marriage ceremony was about to be performed. She came blamed near being a widow as it was, and why take a chance like that, when there are plenty of good men left.

With all the talk about farm relief, it appears that everybody has forgotten the real solution of the problem. It's simply the good, hard-working individual you found on the farm a few years ago, who liked his work and who liked his pay, small as it was, and was willing to do a day's work.

If there is anything more annoying than to try to get the home phone for half an hour just because some person is telling their best friend the latest bit of gossip in full detail, it must be to finally be told that you may have your number and then get some person residing in the other side of the city.

With the old coal pile dwindling rapidly as King Winter again holds sway, it's a good time to think of the hot, sweltering days of the coming summer and be thankful.

Afraid to go out for food because he believed that if he did he would be arrested for failure to pay his rent, a New York painter starved himself and two French poodle dogs for several days, until he and his two dogs were found in a starving condition by agents of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Fear has caused many a person to die.

We read with interest that the penal institution for women at New York City is a good place to reduce. A woman weighing 200 pounds weighed but 150 pounds after spending six months in that institution. There's one thing about it, they learn to work while they are there.

We believe that K. M. VanZandt, president of the Fort Worth, Texas, National Bank, who at the age of 91 still actively engages in the affairs of this bank, has the right idea. He says: "Have some definite object to live for, work to that end and never lose interest in human affairs."

You can't see any ruins by traveling in America, but you can go back home and look at your bank account.

The 80-year-old dowager empress of Russia, now a resident of Denmark, still awaits patiently for her son. She does not believe he was slain by the Bolshevists. What is more touching than this faith on the part of a mother in her God and her son?

Farm relief, along with a big navy, is keeping the United States Senate and Congress busy. Apparently neither will be considered on their merits, or what is most essential for the good of the country. They make good political ammunition and they will be used as such.

There are those who object to dancing at any and all times and by old or young, but there are few who will dispute that dancing, especially of the yesterdays, added gracefulness to the other qualifications of those indulging.

Finished steel prices are firmer, we note the financial column of a newspaper states. That's a fairly good indication that there is a demand and when there is a demand for any commodity, it is an indication of more prosperous conditions, especially in a steel district like this.

Germany is to have Pullman car service. Just another indication of the American invasion, when it comes to establishing of comfort in the lives of others. There's one thing about the American, he is generally willing to share his good things with the other fellow, if the other fellow is willing to pay for it.

Few mortals seem as [illegible] and neglected as a prominent citizen in a strange town that doesn't know he is important.

England's empty cradles rank in interest with the greatest problems of the world's largest empire. But what can you expect, when conditions are such that a parent finds it impossible to give his child the opportunities that he desires for it and believes it entitled to.

Because of a marriage boom in Bengal and the northwest provinces of India last spring, stockholders in a railroad serving that district are receiving an unusually high dividend of 18 per cent. Marriage festivals play an important part in railroad traffic in India. It doesn't appear to effect traffic or dividends here.

Ammunition for firearms may no longer be sold in Mexico without permission from the government. There is a severe penalty attached to bootlegging ammunition. This indicates that there is something as far as the Mexican government is concerned that it fears more than liquor.

YOUR OWN FUNERAL

An elderly Ohio preacher, soon to die, prepared his own funeral sermon. He stipulated that the address was to be read, by a fellow minister. This is not customary, but the idea has merit. Each one of us, if we would be perfectly honest, could write a better funeral address about himself than anybody else could possibly give.

YOU KNOW what you are—and nobody else. Not only do we not write our own funeral sermons, we rarely face half the facts about ourselves in life. Our activities are directed to the end that we may be thought to be something or other.

What you are, of course, is a struggler, a straggler, or a leader in the parade. Up part of the time and down part of the time.

A California Breakfast.
Ask Mr. Ochs.
We Need Ships.
Powerful Mr. Upsidedown.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—Often the east asks: "Doesn't a warm climate weaken the energies of California men and women? Are not the white people there enervated as California Indians used to be?"

Mr. Ochs who owns the New York Times can answer that, having attended a session of the Los Angeles Riding and Breakfast club.

At 8 o'clock Wednesday morning he was singing songs, hundreds of men putting their arms on each other's shoulders, swinging back and forth sidewise as they sang.

Before nine he had eaten buckwheat cakes, ham and eggs, boiled pears, hot rolls, heard Russian vaudeville performers sing and had seen them dance, made a speech of his own and listened to six other five-minute speeches; had been photographed with fine charming young ladies known as the "Wampas Babies" met and was photographed with a young lady who had just ridden one horse 4,000 miles across the continent; had been photographed with Douglas Fairbanks' bounding young Mexican star, Lupe Valez and learned the chorus of a song beginnig:

"O! You ham.
"O! You eggs."

By ten he had posed for William Fox's "Movietone" and was inspecting real estate 1,700 feet high with young Mr. Chanler.

The remarkable thing about the people out here is their ter ific energy.

Mr. Ochs will confirm that.

J. A. H. Kerr vice president of the Security National Bank told the energetic "breakfasters" that this country should have a merchant marine of its own and not only rely on competitors to carry our imports and exports that for the 1927-1928 period may amount to ten thousand million dollars. The country will pay for a year's transportation at sea $600,000,000, 80 per cent of it going to foreign shipping.

This country during and since the war has spent three thousand million dollars on ships and hasn't got a merchant marine yet.

In 1830 nearly 100 years ago American ships carried more than 89 per cent of American commerce. In 1926 only a little over 32 per cent.

That is something to think about in connection with the birthday of Washington who objected to entangling alliances. We are bound to have such entanglements if we depend on foreign countries to carry our supplies in case of war.

Next week the Basque Uzcudun, whom fight fanciers for convenience call "The Spaniard Upsidedown" will fight a tall, powerful colored man named Godfrey.

This intellectual neighborhood has paid $44,000 for tickets to see what wil happen to Mr. Godfrey. On mild Pacific or rough Atlantic human nature is the same. Men will pay $10 to see a fight that would not pay $5 for the best book.

Students of anthropology will note that the Basque Uzcudun and the South American Firpo are the two most powerful rugged men that the prize ring has seen in 100 years.

Mr. Jack Dempsey or Gene Tunney will tell you frankly.

"I'm quite willing to let someone else take care of that Uzcudun person."

It seems he hits very hard and when you hit him, he does not notice it.

Frank Lockhart whom Barney Oldfield calls "the greatest automobile driver in history" drove his car 200 miles an hour on a Florida beach, lost control, shot out into the ocean and may die.

Such speed in automobiles is valueless because it cannot be used. Trying for it is as unwise as some "stunts" that fliers do, emhasizing the danger of flying instead of emphasizing its safety as they should.

It is to be hoped that Colonel Lindbergh the most important young man to his country will realize the danger and folly of unnecessary risk.

A serious accident to Lindbergh would set flying back 10 years in America. That is not what he wants.

Many will be interested to learn from Mr. Ochs that Lindbergh paid all his expenses on his trip through Mexico and the Central American republics. His flying on United States territory was financed by the Gugenheim Flying foundation. He financed his own trip south of the Rio Grande.

Washington's Birthday brings more arguing about George Washington's "morals" what he drank, whether he manufactured his own beer, whisky, etc.

Washington's job was to beat the British and establish the nation. He attended to both and gave the country good advice. The rest is as unimportant as Lord Nelson's love affair with Lady Hamilton. Nelson wrote his story at Trafalgar. Rooting around in semi-historical mud will not change that.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

THE ELECTRONIC MAN

Dr. Dinsmore Alter, of the University of Kansas, thinks that the electronic man belongs in the list of the fanciful beings of human conjecture.

The electronic man is based upon the belief that the electrons within the atoms may follow the same laws as the planets in the sky, for certainly the small asteroids follow these laws.

This gives us interesting material for conjecture.

How do we know that in every atom of our body there is a miniature world or rather universe, stars revolving around a central sun? Living beings may exist on these electrons whirling about in our thumb nail.

Time was when an atom was supposed to be the smallest conceivable thing, for the word atom means not capable of being divided.

Then came along electrons, which are supposed to be even smaller than atoms. Atoms are conceived as composed of revolving electrons. Even in hard substances, such as iron or human skin, these electrons are revolving in their various atoms.

And now comes the interesting speculation that these electrons, being miniature worlds like ours, have miniature inhabitants.

There is no reason to suppose that sentient life is confined to beings like ourselves.

Maeterlink conceived of a soul in bread and in flour, etc.

Why would it not be possible in some other world for souls to inhabit flame or metal? What soul is nobody knows. With us it is certainly within the human organism, but elsewhere it may not be.

There is no limit also to speculation as to what takes place in the microscopical world. Perhaps our world, this little planet, bears the relation to the vast cosmos around us and above us that the atom in our finger bears to our whole body.

LEARN A LANGUAGE.

It is not very hard to learn a foreign language. If the student will commit to memory a vocabulary of fifteen hundred common words from A, B, ab's to X Y Z's of any language, he or she can make themselves well understood in the country speaking the language. Of course, the pronunciation of the words is important and the correct manner in which to pronounce any language may be learned rather easily in any city of this country. There are to be found in New Castle plenty of Europeans who speak their particular native tongue very well. The grammar and syntax of every modern language with some Germanic exceptions is the same. Both follow almost to the letter the Latin Language.

There are idioms and slang expressions in all countries and these come easily if the student will at least once a week practice his newly acquired speech with one who was once a native.

Well educated Englishmen and Americans use between three and four thousand different English words, but the ordinary citizen will not use more than two thousand. Many Americans of good repute and business ability are found who do not have a vocabulary of more than a thousand words.

Brilliant writers and gifted speakers sometimes use as many as eight thousand different words and the myriad-minded Shakespeare wrote in his published plays and poems no less than fifteen thousand—some of them "horsecrested"—words.

Perfectly Human Banker

By IDAH McCLONE GIBSON

The bright young banker—I am sure he was young—who invented the words "Your Christmas Savings Account", knew human nature as well as he did the banking business.

Very few Americans will save for the mere sake of piling up dollars. There is no romance in that—and Americans are the most romantic people on earth. But they will save for an object that they think will give them happiness.

To have a snug sum to spend on those one loves will cause many acts of economy that nothing else will do.

These Christmas Savings have come to be a yearly account that reaches into millions of dollars in most of the big banks in the larger cities and towns.

I dropped into a bank this week. I do this occasionally just to keep in touch with financial affairs and make my overdrafts good.

The cashier was telling one of his customers that their "Christmas savings accounts would be 25 per cent more this year than last."

"How much of last year's Christmas savings were spent for Christmas presents?" I inquired.

"About 40 per cent," he answered. "We can promise ourselves that 20 per cent will at the end of the year be applied on debts and 40 per cent will be re-invested in bonds or placed in the bank until some other good interest bearing stock can be bought below par.

"It is very probable that not 99 per cent of these people would start a savings account without the object of Christmas pleasures behind it, but having started it one year with the idea that they can take their money out and have some pleasure at the end of the year, they start a habit of systematic saving that most of them will keep up all their lives."

Just then a very pretty girl came into the bank and added $2.50 to her Christmas savings.

"I never had a savings account before, for going without and putting money by for an old age that may never come never appealed to me," she said. "But to put it by for the sake of making someone happy and being happy myself is all to the good, is it not?"

Memo: Again I say, the young banker who inaugurated "Christmas Savings" was clever. I am going to try it—next year.

POSTAL EFFICIENCY.

Our government at Washington suits me very well. It is easy to complain about representatives in congress who talk to much but after all, that's what the representatives are there for. I have no objection to their talking and printing their talk in the Congressional Record. I rather hope they will broadcast all the business of both houses of congress in the near future.

We shouldn't expect our representatives in congress to keep still when they have no mighty phrases, dripping with wisdom and statemanship to utter. We're not so mighty in most of our talk ourselves, are we?

But I have a good many sore spots that have been made by the postoffice department. I believe many of my countrymen have similar sore spots. The letter carriers are all right but there's something wrong higher up.

The postoffice department is getting so "efficient" that it's not so much good any more.

Well, take the postage stamps for instance. I hope nobody in America is ignorant of the circumstance that postage stamps no longer will stick to envelopes except you put them on with careful licking and then put them under the dictionary for half an hour before mailing.

I presume the gum that won't stick is cheaper than gum that will stick and the postoffice department is saving money for the budget or something like that.

Recently I have had many of the little cards that notify me that a letter addressed to me is held at this or that postoffice for lack of postage. I send the postage and the letter comes on—having had postage paid on it twice. The stamp affixed by the sender fell off because it hadn't sticky gum on it.

I hear much of this kind of thing from my friends. Doubtless the same situation is being felt, more or less by at least 50 per cent of all our citizens.

Stamps are so brittle now that they break easily and thus make money for the efficient postoffice department because the stamp user often throws away the broken stamp and buys another.

Letters properly addressed but without a street number are constantly returned to senders because the postoffice is too efficient to look in the directory for the address. This isn't service. The government is fine but it needs more service and less "efficiensy" in the postoffice department.

Business Issues Show How Senate Divides

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. — The "founding fathers" meant the senate to be the conservative branch of congress, and that's what it is yet, in spite of the Progressives' "balance of power".

The Progressives do hold the balance of power when the senate divides pretty strictly along the Republican-Democratic cleavage line.

This happens when issues purely of party politics are at stake.

But let some question of sure-enough business importance come up; instantly you see the Republican and Democratic groups merge, and a re-division follows—no more like the political one than chalk's like cheese.

Now we have an alignment of liberals and conservatives—and find the conservatives in a comfortable majority.

There was a pretty illustration of it recently in the vote on the power industry investigation.

Two plans were proposed:

1. To have a special senate committee investigate the power industry.

2. To have the federal trade commission investigate it.

The liberals were for plan No. 1. The conservatives were for plan No. 2.

Thirty-nine senators voted, or were "paired", in favor of No. 1. Fifty-four voted, or were "paired", in favor of No. 2. Thus the supporters of a federal trade commission inquiry won handily—a conservative victory by 15 margin.

An analysis of the line-up is instructive.

For the liberal plan were all the ultra-progressive Republicans, Blaine, Brookhart, Frazier, La Follette, Norris and Nye; Shipstead, Farmer-Laborite, who flocks with them; all the near (in varying degrees) progressive Republicans, Borah, Capper, Cauzens, Cutting, Howell, Johnson, McMaster, McNary and Norbeck, and almost all of the more or less progressive Democrats, Ashurst, Dill, Glass, Hawes, Hayden, King, McKeller, Neely, Reed of Missouri, Walsh of Massachusetts, Walsh of Montana and Wheeler.

In addition there were Barkley, Black, Fletcher, Gerry, Harris, Harrison, Sheppard, Swanson, Trammell, Tyson and Wagner, all Democrats.

We might not have been so sure of this latter group's liberal sympathies, but for this power investigation test. It gives us a new "slant" on them.

For the conservative plan were:

Bingham, Curtis, Deneen, Dupont, Edge, Fess, Gillett, Goff, Gooding, Gould, Greene, Hale, Jones, Keyes, McLean, Metcalf, Moses, Oddie, Pine, Phipps, Reed of Pennsylvania, Robinson of Indiana, Sackett, Schall, Shortridge, Smoot, Steiwer, Warren, Waterman, Watson and Willis, Republicans.

Bayard, Blease, Bratton, Broussard, Bruce, Caraway, Copeland, Edwards, Ferris, George, Heflin, Kendrick, Mayfield, Overman, Pittman, Ransdell, Robinson of Arkansas, Simmons, Smith, Steck, Stephens, Thomas and Tydings, Democrats.

Out of that list we might have picked Steiwer, Blease and Caraway as rather liberal, but they're in very conservative company.

With Senator Dale, who was absent and not "paired", and allowing for the two Illinois and Pennsylvania vacancies, that makes up the roll of the senate.

That plan No. 1 was any better than plan No. 2, or vice versa, isn't implied for a minute, but that the former was the liberal and the latter the conservative one there can't be any question.

It isn't often that a vote so clearly defines the line of demarcation between the two senate elements.

CATARRH CONQUERED!

Few understand how important a part the mucous membranes have in health. They absorb and discharge all the food and waste material of the body.

So when they become inflamed or congested, the whole system suffers. And when that inflammation is chronic, we call it catarrh. It may be almost any place in the body—nose, throat, stomach, bowels. It will soon affect every bodily function.

Scienists have fought catarrh ever since medicine became an art. Now the result of innumerable experiments has brought together ingredients from many parts of the world, and catarrh has met its master in

World's Tonic

Wonderful stories of quick relief and complete restoration to health and strength, are told by thousands. Many of them are right in this community. Your own neighbors have learned the remarkable qualities of World's Tonic. They have found a medicine—a prompt relief.

Their experience points the way to you. Your health may be restored, your good spirits brought back, and your life brightened.

World's Tonic has proved itself! Catarrh is no longer the master!

THE THRILL OF BATTLE

Let him who will tread easy ways and have his burdens light,
But as for me I'd rather know the struggle and the fight.
I'd rather risk with failure in the battle's noise and heat
Than live a sheltered life and never venture with defeat.

I would not choose to be endowed and freed from want and fear;
To have no goal to try to reach, no purpose year by year
To live and laugh and sleep and dine.
God keep me safe from this
And let me shoot at targets far—yes, even though I miss!

I want to dream and hope and plan, I want to be afraid,
I never want to see the day when all my bills are paid.
For sad must be the plight of him,
though all his skies are blue,
Who walks about a busy world, and has no work to do.

Give me the thrill of venturing, of losing if I must,
Of matching strength with other's strength and giving thrust for thrust.
I always want some task to do; some lesson to be learned,
That I may say that what is mine
I've battled for and earned.

THE BEST TIME—

To start a laugh is when some one else is trying to start a fight.
To hold your temper is when your competitor has lost his.
To keep your courage is when every one else has given up in despair.
To remain silent is when you have nothing to say, but very many don't do it.
To sign on the dotted line is after you have had time to think it over.
To marry is when you are in love and can support the girl.
To hurry is before there is any need for it.

TRY IT!

"Lady, here's something nice. Just put a couple drops of this Sparklo in your eyes and it'll make them shine like a movie star's."

"Oh, that's too much trouble."

"No trouble at all, lady. Just pour a little on your grapefruit every morning."

Thousands of others doubted, too
— until they made this personal health test

THEY, too, called Postum "an invalid's drink." And they didn't need medicine—not they! They were all right—except that they didn't sleep as soundly as they should, and were tired and draggy in the morning, and a bit nervous and headachy at times. They felt just bad enough not to feel good.

Then they found this natural way to better health! For thirty days, they drank Postum with their meals, in place of beverages containing the drug caffein. They found they missed nothing in enjoyment—that Postum's smooth, full-bodied flavor was a delight in itself. And they found that, with Postum as their regular mealtime drink, sleeplessness and nervousness vanished. Headaches and indigestion disappeared.

Needless to say, these Postum "doubters" were convinced. Postum became their mealtime drink forever after!

Convince yourself!

Don't let one slip in diet stand between you and the joy of perfect health! Get Postum at your grocer's—try it for thirty days! Then judge its value by your own physical gains! Postum comes in two forms—Instant Postum, prepared instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Both are made of roasted whole wheat and bran—no trace of artificial stimulants in them. Both cost much less than most other mealtime drinks. Order today!

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

SERGEANT WOODPECKER BECOMES SUSPICIOUS

Nuthatch's words of flattery went straight to Woodpecker's red head. Cocking it upon one side the sergeant fluffed out his feathers until he looked larger and more important than ever.

"Wick! Wick! Wick!" cried the sergeant in loud, harsh tones. "Knowing what my duty is and doing it has made me one of the most respected birds in the universe! Borers, the miserable little sneak thieves, can't get away from me once I am on their trail nor can a piece of dead wood fool me for a moment.

"If I have a suspicion that a certain branch is no longer a safe place for any of the feathered folks to build their homes I just tap it with my beak to make sure. Then I warn the birds, and what I say goes! No bird would think of questioning my orders, however much he had set his heart upon that spot.

"As you are a faithful little patrolman, Nuthatch, and never yet have I caught you doing anything that you shouldn't, I am going to take your word for two-legs' honesty. But as your superior officer, I command you to keep an eye upon his movements.

"BUT I AM NOT A THIEF!" PROTESTED THE BOY.

This elm tree is no longer as young as it might be, and it can ill afford to lose any of its sap. Sap-sucker is the only one that is entitled to a drink, and even he is not going to get much sap this spring—not if I can help it!"

"But I am not a thief!" protested the boy. "I shouldn't think of taking any sap from an elm tree, even if I knew how to get it. In the first place I don't think I'd like it. I am sure that it would taste very bitter. Not at all like maple syrup!"

"Kee-yer!" screamed Woodpecker. "What do you know about maple syrup? As sure as I am the sergeant of the birdland police, my suspicions were right! You have stolen sap in the spring!"

"I tell you I have not!" declared Peter, indignantly. "The maple trees in our yard belong to my father. In the early spring-time father taps it and when he has gotten some of the syrup he fills up the hole he made with wax and it doesn't hurt the tree at all. How can anybody steal what is their own?"

"Stuff and nonsense!" exclaimed Woodpecker. "A tree is a free thing and you cannot own its blood, and that is what the sap is, you know. You are not safe to be trusted. Wick! Wick! What a lot of worries a policeman does have! Soon Sapsucker will make his appearance and I suppose he and I shall have the usual yearly scrap before he will settle down to business. He is a good officer, but he will insist upon going upon a spree every spring season. He is the only member of our family that drinks, and it is a shame, for he has given us all a bad name."

"May I ask who Sapsucker is?" questioned the boy.

"You may ask but I don't have to answer you," replied Woodpecker rudely.

"Now Sergeant, this is not fair of you," said Nuthatch quickly. "You must be all tired out from overwork or you would never have answered a guest like that!

"Sapsucker is Sergeant Woodpecker's first cousin, two-legs, and looks a great deal like him only he hasn't the white spot on his tail nor the yellow wing linings that my superior officer has. Really the two are firm friends, only Sergeant here doesn't approve of his cousin's fondness for sap. But as Sapsucker only drinks in the spring and all the rest of the year lives upon berries, many of them so wild and poisonous, no other bird would touch them, and destroys as many evil insects as the rest of his family, I think that he may be forgiven for his spring spree."

Hidden Qualities Determine the Life of Your Clothes

How may you be sure that good looking clothes will stand the real test of time and wear? Unless you are an expert judge of woolens and tailoring, some things must be taken on faith. You may safely depend upon clothes bearing this label—

RICHMAN'S CLOTHES

Woolens, linings, and all other materials used in Richman's Clothes are rigidly tested for tailoring and wearing qualities. Each detail of the hidden inner construction is as carefully tailored as the beautifully balanced and precisely stitched lapels, first to catch the eye. The linen canvas coat front, with its twenty shape-retaining and strength-giving parts, is cut and shaped to conform with the body—built up, piece by piece, with thousands of stitches and cross stitches to insure the lasting style and long life of the garment.

2500 happily contented workers, most of them Richman stockholders, safeguard quality in each of the 232 operations involved in making Richman's Clothes. The economies of scientific volume production, huge cash buying power, and direct from factory selling, make it possible for you to buy this outstanding quality at an amazingly low price.

WIFE SLASHES THROAT AFTER FAMILY SPAT

HAMILTON, Feb. 24.—Annoyed because her husband interrupted her family washing by persistent offers to help her, Mrs. Laura Henderson, 37, mother of five children, committed suicide by slashing her throat with a razor.

Mrs. Henderson, police said, was washing in the basement of their home when her husband, Othanial Henderson, appeared and offered to help.

She became incensed at his persistence, he said, and seized the razor. The husband was cut several times on the arms trying to wrest the razor from her. The oldest of the five children is 19.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Feb. 24.—Farm children are superior to city reared children, says a national report on a survey of the physical growth and mental attainment of the boys and girls of New Zealand. Superiority of farmers' children was most pronounced at the age of thirteen.

The survey included 20,000 town and country children ranging in age from ten to fourteen and was carried out by Dr. Ada Paterson, director of the health department's division of school hygiene, and Dr. E. Marsden, assistant director of education.

Connecticut Drys Hampered By Split

(International News Service)

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 24.—The Anti-Saloon League in Connecticut and the Connecticut Temperance Union have divorced themselves. With the announcement of the divorce the Union has issued a plea to Connecticut voters to "keep the nation dry," contending that issue is coming before the public in the election of November.

Of the divorce of E. Stanley Wells, the Union's president, says the separation was due to the fact that Union members "will be likely in a short time to find themselves out of sympathy with and be obliged to retire from the Anti-Saloon League." The merger lasted a year, the Union supplying funds to the League.

Deplorable Suffering In Mining Camps, Seen By Senate Committee

Senate Coal Committee Visits Mining Camps Near Pittsburgh

Untold Suffering And Hardships Are Endured By Families Of Miners

By KENNETH CLARK,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 24.—Within an easy half hour's automobile drive of Pittsburgh, one of the world's richest industrial centers, a group of long, low barracks and bunk houses squat crazily in a veritable ocean of slimy mud.

The scene is a dingy, six by eight kitchen in one of the barracks. A woman, her face scared with the heavy lines of toil, her hands gnarled from washing clothes in hot tubs of water. Holds a young baby girl in her arms. She is the wife of one of the striking soft coal miners. She stands with her back to a roaring stove, on which potatoes are cooking.

Crowded into the kitchen so that there is barely room to breathe are the four members of the Senate Coal committee. Representatives of the United Mine Workers and newspapermen. Outside a group of ragtag children keep up a humdrum noise. They try to poke their heads into the door and the one tiny window. On an outer fringe striking miners and their families hover silently. Across the street are a row of empty houses from which miners have been evicted.

Woman Tells Story

In a simple straightforward manner, the woman tells a story so gripping that committee members, already wearied with tramping over hill and valley, and through oozing mud that splashes up the trousers' leg at each step, hang on her every word

"A bunch of scabs were going home from work as school was letting out," she says. "They called names at them as children will. Two of my children were in the group. Soon the strike breakers, all negroes, turned and fired into the children. None was killed. Some Coal and Iron police came along about that time. I rushed out to the children. The police warned me to get away. I told them they had no right to come on private property to take the bread out of our mouths. One of them grabbed me.

"I hit him in the jaw with my free hand. Then something struck the back of my head and I was unconscious. When I came to, a pair of handcuffs were on my wrist. I demanded to be set free. The policeman told me to 'go to hell'. He twisted the handcuff until the blood came. I was marched up the railroad track and held for an hour. I saw two policemen with machine guns and said to the woman next to me, 'they aren't going to give us a hearing.' The policemen replied, 'these guns aren't for you, they're for your men'."

The scene changes to a bunk house for negro non-union miners. At the back runs a dirty stream. It is used to carry off waste. Some of the workers have just come out of the pit, 150 feet below. The Senate committee corrals them in a semi-circle and shoots a rapid-fire of questions at them.

Very Little Pay

"I been here two months and ain't got nothing," says one. "The mine is full of water and they don't give us cars or tools to get out the coal."

"How much do you get net, after all expenses are paid, at pay day every two weeks? is asked of several of them.

The answers range from "nothing," to $2.38 to $15. The last came from the huskiest man in the group. The company pays the men 65 cents a ton for mining coal but takes out board and lodging, tools, stores, etc., so that on pay day few of the men have ready cash.

Senator Gooding (R) of Idaho, chairman, leads the way into one of the rooms. It is 10 by 12 and has nine cots. Under one of the bunks he finds three "dead soldiers" and asks the official stenographer to make a note of it.

At another similar bunkhouse, with its foul smelling air, the committee talks to a young white boy. A fuzzy mustache spread his upper lip.

"The place is no good," he tells the committee. "It's not sanitary and is full of bedbugs and lice. I know only two men here in the camp who have made any money."

He says further that Coal and Iron police won't let the workers leave camps, and declares there is plenty of liquor and that there are disorderly houses nearby. Gooding again instructs the stenographer to spread this on the record for the Senate.

Up the road a bit the committee encounters a tattered negro. He left the camp after spending one day in the bunkhouse.

"It simply wasn't no good boss," he declares. "I was like a blind dog in a meat house."

Will Extend Tour

There were composite pictures painted for the committee today in the inspection of mining camps conducted by union officials they are typical of the entire district. Tomorrow the operators will take charge of the tour and the committee will give a day to hearing their side of the case.

Today's itinerary took the committee to the Moon Run and Allegheny valley districts, all within close proximity to Pittsburgh. The big mines in the Pittsburgh regions are owned by the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal corporation and the Pittsburgh Coal company, both of which are operating non-union.

The committee now plans to extend the tour to Monday by taking a flying trip into the central Pennsylvania fields.

Morin Determined To Oppose Reed In Senatorship Fight

State Controversy Is Far From Settled According To Views Today

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—Harmony moves on the part of Mellon and Vare organization leaders to quit the troubled Republican political waters of Eastern and Western Pennsylvania apparently had met with failure today.

From Harrisburg came reports that Congressman John M. Morin, Vare's representative in Pittsburgh, still intends to oppose Senator David A. Reed for the U. S. senatorial candidacy at the April primary while from Pittsburgh Alderman P. J. Sullivan broadcast that he is in the fight to stay for Morn's seat in the house of representatives.

Thus unless Sullivan withdraws from the race, Morin supported by Philadelphia leaders will seek Reed's senatorial seat.

An agreement was reported to have been reached yesterday in Washington between the two factions of the state G. O. P., but Morin's and Sullivan's declarations apparently indicated the controversy is still far from settled.

.cement is made today, of . of the Spring Ceremonial Caliphs of Bagdad, which will d at the Scottish Rite Cathe- Friday evening, March 9.

is is usually one of the biggest nts of the year in Masonic Cir- s here, and plans are being made to make this affair the most color- ful so far held.

All of the International officers of the organization will be present, and Mayor Robert Thompson of Union- town has accepted an invitation to be present on the platform, and as- sist the officers in welcoming the guests of honor of the evening.

Stanley Treser who recently ac- quired fame as a designer of a Streets and Alleys puzzle, has been selected guide for the class of can- didates, because of his intimate know- ledge of devious and uncertain by- ways. The banquet will be in charge of C. Ed Brown, with W. S. Teets as chief aid.

The whole affair will be under the direction of the Caliph himself, who in ordinary life is known as H. B. Richards. When Mr. Richards was asked what the program was likely to be, he smiled his usual cryptic smile and stated to the reporter that there was nothing available for pub- lication. However it is learned that Mr. Richards and his executive com- mittee have made reservations on he train leaving here at midnight March 9, and that they expect to be away for some weeks following the Cere- monial.

The executive committee consists of the following: W. O. Rugh, Stanley Treser, Melvin Russell, Bob Thomp- son, George Bechtol, John Elliott, Jim Cope and Judy Sypher. All le- gal matters in connection with the affair will be handled by the Messrs. Dickey and Muse, who are attorneys of record for the organization.

Judy Sypher, recorder, reports that an unusually large class will be tak- en in, judging by the applications now being received.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

One of the features of any theater these days is the lighting arrange- ments backstage. All manner of spots, floods, border and footlights, tormentors and a dozen other ar- rangements make it possible to give you electric effects that add much to the performance.

It wasn't always that way. Per- haps you may have wondered what they did before the advent of elec- tric lights, and H. Clare Stockman, assistant chief of the fire department, supplied this information.

Thirty years ago Mr. Stockman was a stage hand in the old "Opry House". Gas lights were used throughout, and if you can imagine footlights made of gas jets, you have an idea what he was up against. A wheel turned the lights down and up as they were needed for various scenes, but occasionally the entire system exploded and Stocky had to go along lighting up all the jets in the foots and borders.

The first theatrical production ever to play here with electric lights in the house was Ned Hanlon's Fan- tasma, and old-time theatergoers will remember the Hanlon shows. That was 30 years ago and crude as the lights were, they were a big improve- ment over the flickering gas lights, which had a habit of blowing out now and then.

"Daddy" Lynn, father of the pres- ent chief of the fire department, was stage carpenter then, and under him Mr. Stockman learned of the back- stage life of the theater. Later he went into the fire department and is now the assistant chief.

Saw a new dance step last night and most of it was being rehearsed on Highland avenue, just above Grant street. The street was dangerously icy and cars taking a run to make the hill usually did a side slip and a shimmy as they made the turn. One chap I know walked home last night, as he "wanted to see the accidents".

Reports emanating from the law- yers' banquet last night are to the ef- fect that several of the boys got badly singed. The panning waxed right fu- rious, but at the end of it Ed. Logan walked out with most of the hair he went in with.

If some genius would just devise a splash board for the girls these mud- dy days, a lot of hosiery would be saved. Just yesterday I saw a sweet young thing crossing Washington street with a pair of peach colored hose on, or maybe it was flesh color or apricot or something. At any rate, somebody had skidded past and the resulting swoosh had stipled the hose until they looked something like an old-fashioned rice pudding with a handful of currants sticking out of them. Now I'm wondering what a nice girl thinks when that happens, and whether her thoughts run along the lines of murder.

Perhaps that's why some of them wear those boots that look like the regalia of a fireman.

It isn't often that a cabinet officer of the President of the United States comes to New Castle to speak. We'll have one on March 3, when Secretary of Labor James J. Davis comes to the Scottish Rite Cathedral for the St. Davids day dinner. If you ever heard Mr. Davis speak, you know his ability.

One of the most peculiar forms of salutation is that in vogue among na- tives of certain islands near the Phil- ippines who grasp the foot of the per- son they wish to greet and gently rub their faces with it.

THE NEW KONJOLA MEDICINE PRAISED BY NOTED DOCTOR

Ohio Physician Strongly Indorses New Compound; Konjola Man Busy At Love & Megown Drug Store

A remarkable report has been re- ceived which shows more clearly than ever the unusual value of this cele- brated medical preparation, Konjola, which the Konjola Man is now intro- ducing to large crowds of men and women at the Love & Megown drug store, 204 East Washington Street, New Castle.

The report referred to was issued by Dr. Geo. H. Spriggs, 2315 Inwood Place, Cincinnati, who has gained fame because of his distinguished service as major in the world war. Dr. Spriggs, who has an Edinburg degree, stated that this surprising Konjola medicine so completely showed its power in so many cases of suffering that he wants everybody to know about it. He gave a detailed report of the work of Konjola and also offered his photograph for publication.

"By helping Nature," said this prominent doctor, "Konjola is far above many older known remedies. I first tried it in a case of kidney trouble—frequently getting up at nights. The man who took it came back the fourth day and said he had slept all through the previous night. I learned afterward that he had been doctoring over ten years for his trouble. I learned of a man who hadn't left his house for over two years. He had been crippled with rheumatism, swollen joints and stiff, aching limbs, and agonizing pains. He completed a treatment of Konjola and said he walked a distance of nearly a mile. This, of course, was about three weeks after he completed Konjola. From this case I believed this medi- cine would do wonders with neuritis, and I recommended it to a lady who said she had tried everything for this suffering. She had tried mineral baths, electric treatments and medi- cine upon medicine. It took only five weeks of the Konjola to completely end her trouble, and she has never had a return of the neuritis pains.

"I next treated a woman who had been in bed 3 days out of 5, every week, suffering intense pains, caused from gas bloating and sourness, which had been getting worse in years past. She said in 5 years she had spent several thousand dollars on her health. She took Konjola and began to eat heartily of many things she hadn't dared to touch before, in years. The food agreed with her and she continued a few weeks longer and gained nearly 20 pounds. She says she feels ten years younger, and her appearance certainly shows it. I had another lady tell me Konjola did more good for her than 4 years of special dieting. She took Konjola for nervousness and a general rundown system.

"When Konjola is taken into the human system, there are a score or more of different herbal ingredients and each one of them has a certain duty to perform on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. The cleans- ing and invigorating of these import- ant organs is what seems to bring such amazing relief and new feelings of health. I heartily recommend it and consider it a real Godsend to those who suffer ill-health."

The Konjola Man is at the Love & Megown drug store, 204 East Wash- ington Street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and intro- ducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

What's more, the boy members of the class insist on helping to enforce the regulations.

SIDEBURNS PROVE TRAP

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—Leonardo Lucarello departed from his home in Union City, N. J., with elongated sideburns, $300, and a desire to be Rudolph Valentino's successor on the screen. The sideburns, especially cul- tivated for Hollywood use, trapped him. A railroad ticket agent in New York, remembering a description broadcast by the youth's father, held Lucarello.

THERE ARE LIMITS

"You ought to be proud of your country," said the militant patriot.

"I am," said Mr. Bibbles. "That is, most of the time."

"Is there ever a moment, sir, when you cease to regard the United States as the greatest country on the globe?"

"Yes. When I've been swindled by a bootlegger I couldn't cheer the flag to save my life."

Grove City National Guard Gets "Very Satisfactory" Rating

GROVE CITY, Pa. Feb. 24.—Captain Frank Poehlman, commander of the Regimental Headquarters Co. of the 112th Infantry, Pennsylvania Natinal Guards entertained the non-commissioned officers of the local company at a 6:30 o'clock dinner in the Penn Grove hotel Wednesday evening.

In addition to the non-commissioned personnel the dinner was attended by Lieutenant James A. Walker, second in command of the Headquarters company and Lieutenant L. E. Lilley, regular army officer stationed at Grove City as instructor for the local units of the guard.

Following the dinner the men adjourned to the State Armory for a business meeting and discussion of plans for the training of the company preliminary to the annual summer encampment which will be held in July.

Since the local company was placed under the command of Captain Poehlman just a year ago interest in the work and in attendance has picked up so that the company now ranks as one of the most efficient and best drilled units in the state organization. At the recent federal inspection held here January 25 the Regimental Headquarters company received the rating of "very satisfactory" which is the highest mark given by the inspecting officers.

Fat Went in this Easy Way

Ask Slender Folks to Tell You

For 20 years, slender women have been telling others the easy, pleasant way to reduce. It is the right way, based on a modern discovery made by able scientific men. It has proved so efficient that for two decades it has held the top place in this field. Now you can see the results wherever you look. Slender figures are the usual, fat is the exception.

That right way is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. It is a substance employed in the body to regulate nutrition. Its purpose is to turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat.

There are no secrets about it. The formula appears in every box, also the reasons for results. Thus users know just why it acts, and they have no fear of harm. The use requires no abnormal exercise or diet, though moderation helps. People simply take four tablets daily until the weight comes down to normal in a natural way.

Consider what Marmola has done for so many and so long. See what it has done in your own circle, because one user tells others. Now learn what it means to you. Watch the new beauty that it brings, the new vitality and health. You owe that to yourself. Order it now—before you forget it. Don't longer suffer an abnormal figure when so many have found a corrective.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

MARMOLA Prescription Tablets The Pleasant Way to Reduce

Make Plans For March Institute

W. C. T. U. County Executive Committee Meets On Thursday Afternoon

Executive committee of Lawrence County Woman's Christian Temperance Union met Thursday afternoon in the Y. W. C. A. parlors with the president, Miss Margaret S. Walker, presiding.

Following the devotional period, led by Mrs. Jennie Forquer, who read from James 4:14, the theme being "What Is Your Life?" a letter was read by Miss Walker from Mrs. Ella George, state president, who stressed the importance of acquiring new members. Each Union was asked to appoint two captains. Each member of the Unions was asked to be responsible for 10 new members.

Plans were made for the midyear institute, to be held the fourth Thursday in March. Mrs. Jennie Forquer, Mrs. Stuart and Mrs. Calvin Smith were appointed a committee in charge of the event.

In view of the fact that the county W. C. T. U. is planning to purchase 68 volumes of the "Temperance History and Reference Library", which was to be placed in the Senior High school for the use of students, it was learned that the Epworth M. E. Sunday school would pay the sum of $25 if they could have the use of the books. A committee was appointed to investigate the books and make a report at the next meeting. The committee named was Mrs. Balph, Mrs. McCreary, Miss Poebles, Mrs. Forquer and Mrs. Stuart.

All Unions were asked to contribute to the state W. C. T. U. building fund at Harrisburg. Anyone giving the some of $100 would entitle her name to be placed on a tablet in the building.

It was decided to buy 1,000 cigaret pledges. It was also decided to cooperate with the Federation of Women's Club of this city in their effort in doing away with outside advertising.

The president, Miss Walker, told of the courteous letter received by her from President Coolidge in reply to a letter writen by her in reference to the bill proposed for heavier penalties for bootlegging. She also told of letters received from Congressman Swick and Senator Reed in regard to the big navy program.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT

If you cannot get wheat grits, substitute wheat cereal in the following breakfast menu. Eggs will soon be getting cheaper, and anyway, six eggs at a fair price are inexpensive when compared to the price of meat. The ham in the omelet is the end of the slice or of the boiled ham. Other leftover meat may be substituted. If you do not want to use all the fruit and nuts in the tapioca, use just raisins.

BREAKFAST

Sliced Oranges or Ray Apples
Wheat Grits or Wheat Cereal with Milk
Toast — Coffee

LUNCHEON

Cream of Tomato Soup with Crackers
Brown Bread and Cottage Cheese Sandwiches
Baked Apples — Cookies — Milk

DINNER

Baked Potatoes — Ham Omelet
Cabbage Salad with Carrot
Fruited Tapioca with Cream
Tea

Today's Recipes.

Wheat Grits—Grind whole grains of cleaned wheat through food chopper, cracking grains coarsely, or this may be purchased at some mills already cracked. Wash, cover with cold water (one quart to one cup of grits), salt to taste, cook over a slow fire. You may put it in double boiler on heater and cook all night. Serve with milk and sugar.

Ham Omelet—Beat six eggs until creamy, add three tablespoons of milk, turn into omelet pan and sprinkle with one cup ground ham. When done turn on hot plate and salt.

Fruited Tapioca — One-half cup pearl tapioca, one and one-half quarts water, one cup raisins, one cup figs, cut in small pieces, one cup dates cut fine, one cup brown sugar, one-half cup nuts. Wash tapioca and fruit, place in double boiler, cover with one and one-half quarts water, cold. Cook slowly until tapioca is clear, then add sugar and cook ten minutes more. Take from stove and when cool add nuts. Serve with whipped cream or plain as desired.

Suggestions.

Useful Carry-All.

The most useful article in one household is an inexpensive tea wagon. It is simply a large white tray on wheels such as used in hospitals. It folds if desired. It has many uses besides conveying food and dishes. With a folded blanket on top, it is the nicest thing in the world on which to give the baby a bath.

When the ironing is ready to be sent away, place the table linen in one pile, bed linen and towels in another and so on until the clothes are all in neat piles on the cart. Then the cart is wheeled to the various rooms and unloaded. In canning season it is very convenient to have a table which you can wheel near to the stove or any part of the kitchen.

Cream of Carrot Soup.—Three medium-sized carrots, three cups milk, two tablespoons flour one-half cup cream, one slice onion, one bay leaf, one teaspoon salt. Wash, scrape and slice the carrots; cook in boiling salted water. Steep the bay leaf and onion in the milk and cream in a double boiler for 15 minutes. Remove the onion and bay leaf and thicken with flour. Put the carrots through a colander or leave in slices and add to the thickened milk and cream. Parsley may be added.

A Little Change.

When making a rice pudding, and wishing a little change, eliminate the raisins. After baking spread top with any kind of jam about one inch thick. Cover this with beaten egg whites and place in oven to brown.

BESSEMER NEWS

CHAPEL.

Fashions may come and go but somewhere stowed back in almost any attic one can find an old family album. Perhaps we no longer keep them on the parlor table, but, without a doubt each one of us still enjoys looking over these old relics.

Just such a treat offered merriment to Besemer high last Thursday morning in the chapel program prepared by Mr. Winters.

Miss Elvira Pense impersonated by Nettie Crum uncovered to the audience, page by page, her family album. With each picture Miss Pence entertained with an amusing account of some incident relating to the person exhibited. The first picture was one of Miss Pense's mother. She also showed pictures of her father, a shy gentleman of he parson, the parson's wife, the village beauty ,a sister, a brother-in-law and an old grandfather.

The costumes were all greatly prized, old-fashioned ones ,and as the characters were well chosen for the parts they represented the pantomime was a success.

LYCEUM SERIES.

Last Monday evening a pleasing entertainment was presented before the town people of Bessemer by Mr. and Mrs. James Kater of the Kater Duo.

Mrs. Kater showed her skill on an accordian and at the piano. Mrs. Kater is also a vocalist of attainment.

Mr. Kater is known from one end of the country to the other as the man of magic and mystery. He held the audience spell-bound by his magic tricks. Several young people of this community had the chance to go on the stage to aid the magician and incidentally to solve the mystery but such intentions were in vain.

NEW WILMINGTON VISITORS.

Thursday of last week 12 New Wilmington high students accompanied by their prinipal Mr. Nord, made a short visit at the Bessemer school. These students were making an educational tour through various industrial plants in nearby towns. Of course a tour would not be complete without an inspection of our cement plant which is one of the largest and most efficient of the world.

Miss McLaughlin and her domestic science girls were able to satisfy the demands of the hungry group when they arrived at the cafeteria line about 12 o'clock.

TOWN NEWS.

Mrs. Roy DeArment and Mrs. Wm. Ebbert entertained the Loyal Ladies Bible class Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. DeArment.

After the business meeting games and music were enjoyed. A delicious lunch was served at a later hour.

ACTIVITIES.

April showers bring May flowers. This year the showers are coming before April and so are the flowers. The girls of the Arts and Crafts club have been in the paper flower industry for several weeks. As a result every Tuesday afternoon the domestic science room blooms with blossoms of many varities and hues. Cosmos, sweet peas and many other species blend together making a reguar old-fashioned garden of the commonplace school room.

Washington's Birthday offered ample opportunity for a real program during historic activity Tuesday afternoon. Although the play was an impromptu one it was appreciated by the audience.

NO MORE GAS IN STOMACH

Daily Use of Bisurated Magnesia Keeps Stomach Healthy and Free From Indigestion

Gas in the stomach and indigestion are due, in nearly every case, to the presence of harmful acid in the stomach, creating sourness, fermentation and the pain of delayed digestion. These dangerous and unpleasant conditions may be stopped instantly and further attacks prevented by the daily use, following meals, of Bisurated Magnesia, which neutralizes the dangerous acid the moment it forms in the stomach and thus permits easy, painless, natural digestion. Bisurated Magnesia is the surest and quickest stomach anti-acid in the world and is perfectly harmless to use. It is daily used by thousands of people all over the civilized world. The cost is trifling and it can be obtained either in powder or tablet form at any well stocked drug store. Do not confuse with other forms of Magnesia. Insist on Bisurated. Try a package today, and say good-bye to stomach trouble.

Some women age so young

YOU'VE known them . . . women who start out in life so radiantly fresh and alive that it seems as if they have more than their share of youth and beauty. Then something happens. Almost before you know it — their bloom and freshness have gone. . . . Youth without health! What a pathetic thing it is! Pinched, wan cheeks and pain-dulled eyes when, by every right, they should be just beginning to live.

Constipation wrecks health and happiness for thousands of women and men. Stealing beauty. Thieving vitality. Killing hope with despair. in the end, it causes untold disease and suffering.

And more's the pity when it can be so surely prevented. So quickly relieved. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation safely. To prevent it ever beginning its deadly work.

It takes ALL-BRAN to be 100% effective

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is rich in bulk—and it is "bulk" that relieves constipation. It absorbs moisture and carries it through the alimentary canal. Exercising the intestines as nature intended. Gently distending them—sweeping out poisons and wastes. In a part-bran product, there is seldom enough bulk to do this work effectively. That is why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN. Because it is 100% bran—and accomplishes 100% results.

Totally unlike habit-forming drugs

ALL-BRAN is infinitely better than dangerous pills and laxatives—which become useless unless the dose is constantly increased, and sometimes injure the system. A naturally healthful cereal. Good to eat—and good for you! Delicious with milk or cream—with fruits or honey added for variety. Soaking a few moments in milk makes its nut-like flavor all the tastier. Use it in cooking too. Tempting recipes on every package. Sprinkle it into soups. Mix it with other cereals. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases with every meal.

Keep a package in the home. Serve it regularly. But be sure it's genuine Kellogg's—the original ALL-BRAN. Don't take chances with part-bran substitutes which, at best, can be but partially effective—and often accomplish nothing. ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Served at hotels and restaurants. On dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Guaranteed!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

Beerbower Speaks To Scout Troop

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 24.—In line with the work the local Boy Scout troop is doing to help wild animals, C. E. Beerbower spoke to the scouts at this week's meeting on "First Aid to Animals." Mr. Beerbower, who lives on the New Wilmington-New Castle road is an authority on first aid to animals and he gave the scouts many helpful hints concerning the care of pets and injured wild animals.

At this meeting also Harvey Davis a new candidate for membership into the troop, was taken in. Activities of the troop this week consisted of ushering at the Westminster-St. Francis basketball game, putting out the flags in celebration of Washington's birthday and continuing to spread out food for the feathered folk in and around town.

IS THE WORLD GROWING BETTER

New Castle, Pa.,
Feb. 23, 1928.

To the Eritor,
Care of New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir:—

So much has been said about the world growing better that I wish to offer the following comment, not in a a spirit of criticism, but rather that someone in this age of hurry and worry might look through the eyes of Scripture and see their condition as God sees it. Man looks at the outward appearance but God looks at the heart.

Our viewpoint of the world is established or influenced, at least to a great degree, by our environments. What I say may be forgotten in a short while but I want people to see it from God's viewpoint in Scripture because he said "Heaven and earth may pass away but my word shall not pass away."

We hear folks say the world is getting better. I will admit we have more hospitals, schools, insane asylums and churches than we ever had but I believe I can say this without successful contradiction.

I cannot find, from the first chapter of Matthew to the last of Revelation, one passage of Scripture that says the world will get better, instead it says it will get worse and worse.

Opinions differ when questions arise. The facts of the case and what the Lord says in his word are the only factors which give us a correct answer to the question before us.

The second Epistles all have something to say about the characteristics of the end of time. Paul, in his second epistle to Timothy, says to him, "This we know also that in the last days perilous times shall come (2 Timothy 3:1)" and then he gives a number of detailed enormities which are manifest on every hand.

Peter, in his second epistle, calls attention to many who are questioning the truth of the Lord's return, and are saying, "Where is the promise of his coming?" (2 Peter 3:4). John states that many deceivers have entered the world who deny the coming of Jesus in the flesh (2 John 7).

If the setting of these scriptures is pondered it will be apprehended that the first deals with the immoral conditions which are revealing themselves in their fierceness everywhere among all classes.

In the second passage, a growing indifference is referred to, which practically says God is indifferent to the happenings on earth; therefore, people seem to think they have a right to be indifferent too.

John calls attention to the deceptive glamour of agnostic deceivers, infidelity, evolutionists and higher critics who seek to fritter away the realities and facts regarding the personal reality of Christ and the truth regarding his incarnation, life, death, resurrection and his coming again.

One of the most oppressive facts of our times is the appalling and increasing indifference especially in so-called religious circles. This is not surprising for the Holy Spirit distinctly tells us that one of the signs of the last days is "Men shall be lovers of their ownselves....having a form of godliness but denying the power thereof (2 Timothy 3:2, 5)."

Now facts and realities are sometimes harsh but have to be faced.

Roger Babson, one of the best known statisticians in the United States, said in a crowded meeting in New York: "The United States needs to turn to God speedily or she will be shipwrecked."

Figures say that China is a country of a reckoned population of 400,000,000, the natural increase being at the rate of 1 per cent, or 4,000,000 per year.

In order to make any sort of progress at all, Christianity should be gathering in not less than 4,000,001 converts annually, but the missionaries claim only 100,000 converts per year, or 1-40 of the natural increase only, without touching the basic 400,000,000. Moreover, on account of unsettled conditions there at the present time many missionaries have had to leave.

God's judgments have always followed mercy, at the end of the Antediluvian age, sin was rampant and eight were saved from the flood. In the Patriarchial Age three were saved out of Sodom and Gamorrah and also at the end of the dispensation of law, Jerusalem was laid waste and not one stone remained upon another and 1,250,000 of God's chosen race lost their lives. Why?

Disobedience and sin, the Bible says.

I wish to say that I do not bring these few facts in a criticizing spirit but I do hope somebody may be benefited thereby in a realization of where America is drifting. There are lots of good people but we have had so many hand shaking, card signing conversions, instead of heart conversions, and people went on living just the same as before and the world did not see any change in them.

Jesus told Nicodemus that to get into the kingdom of heaven he must be born of the spirit, and just morality will not do, as we can see from the rich young ruler, but religion and morality have never been divorced and never can be.

According to prophetic scripture, these conditions all over the world point to some great events soon to be fulfilled.

Mussolini and the revival of the old Roman empire are one we can see, the Zionistic movement and the return of the Jews to Palestine are another. The Master said when you see the fig tree put forth then you know summer is nigh (the fig tree is symbolic of Israel).

My only hope is that these few lines may help someone in our fair city and that they might become acquainted with Jesus and a knowledge of saving grace. The Apostle Paul said, "Preach the gospel in season and out of season," and I am sure if a full gospel was preached everywhere America would be spiritually better.

Topic for the Week
"THE FORGIVENESS OF SIN"

Topic for the Week:
"THE FORGIVENESS OF SIN"
Friday:
"Jesus, The Forgiving Saviour"

SCRIPTURE: Memory verse: "Neither do I condemn thee; go and sin no more." (John 8:11).

Read: John 8:1-11.

MEDITATION: There is no lovelier portrait of Jesus to be found in the gospels than that given here. He is all grace and gentleness. The woman could not mistake His attitude for lenience toward her evil ways. There was sufficient rebuke in His modesty and in His exhortation to do this thing no more. But there was hope for her. He believed in her still. Her past did not shut the door on her future. Jesus held that door open for her; His love gave her another chance. Belief in the divineness of Jesus is belief that God is like Jesus. God never closes the door. For everyone life is full of opportunity and of regenerating forces. We need never be imprisoned by our failure, but may make it the gateway to a grander self.

PRAYER:

O God, we thank thee for Thy love and mercy in which we find endless opportunity. The memory of past deeds awakens in us a longing for better things. Turn our regrets into resolutions that our very defeats may become the assurance of victory to come, through Jesus Christ our Saviour. Amen.

HERE IS PARROT THAT NEVER SWORE

DALTON, Mass., Feb. 24.—Polly, a parrot owned for 26 years by Mrs. Harriet Goodel, died of pneumonia. The bird was a Dalton institution and never was heard to swear despite several attempts on the part of boys to teach her.

Polly's real age is not known, but she is believed to have seen a good part of the gay 90's.

Would You Fly?

Here's How Youth Of Coast City Demonstrate Cheapness Of Flights By Club Methods

EARL MITCHELL
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

CALEXICO, Cal., Feb. 24.—If you young fellows must learn how to fly, the way is easy and—relatively inexpensive.

The Aero Club of Calexico has found the open sesame to popular flying. They have bought their own plane, they enjoy its use and with it they train other young men in this community the intricacies of aircraft operation.

The club was formed primarily to advance aviation in this locality. All its members are qualified aviators.

There are three classes of members in the club, Earl Mitchell, pilot instructor, explains.

Active memberships are restricted to those desiring instruction in flying. Qualifications necessary for such a membership are physical fitness and the desire. These members only enjoy the privilege of flying instruction. On qualifying as pilots they become participating members.

Participating memberships are available to qualified pilots who desire to make practice flights and wish to keep a hand in the "flying game."

Non-active memberships go to all interested in furthering aviation. These memberships entitle men to a limited number of flights in the plane during a year.

And here is how the plan operates financially:

The first 20 members paid $150 each. With that they bought a plane. Others came along to pay membership fees and dues.

Dues provide maintenance and fuel.

Sees Future for Clubs

"Our plan would work anywhere," says Mitchell, the instructor. "It enabled us to have a plane when none individually could have afforded it.

"I act as pilot instructor and am the only member of the club to earn a livelihood through it.

"Aviation interests more young men than the average person thinks and if they only knew how to go about having their own plane and flying, more such organizations would spring up over the country."

The club serves to keep former army and navy pilots with a "hand in". Active officers say it sends better qualified reserve officers to summer flying camps, and gives the town an airplane for other practical purposes when needed.

Appoint Judges For Farm Exhibit

Poultry Clinic Will Be Conducted At Westfied Community Farm Show

Judges for the first annual Community Farm Products show, to be held Tuesday, February 28 at Westfield Grange hall, were announced this morning by Guy Fullerton, who is one of the general committee for the show.

C. M. McCormick of New Castle, will be the judge of poultry exhibits, while Ross M. Gridley, county agent for Beaver county will be the judge of the farm products, including grains, eggs, potatoes, honey, and apples. Miss Eleanor Drury, home economics representative from the Pennsylvania State college will be the judge at the exhibits of fancy work and baked goods.

In all, there are almost 100 exhibits of poultry entered in the show, says Mr. Fullerton, who will have charge of that exhibit. Entries in the poultry show will not be accepted after today. Twelve different breeds will be shown at the exhibition.

In addition to the community exhibits, a number of commercial firms will be represented at the show.

At seven o'clock in the evening, Lyman Peck will conduct a poultry clinic in the grange hall. All those people who have sick birds are asked to bring them to the exhibit so that they can be examined by Mr. Peck, who for 15 years was employed by the government as poultry disease expert.

The evening program will start at eight o'clock and will feature an illustrated lecture on Agricultural Conditions in the Countries of Europe, given by H. G. Niesley, assistant director of agricultural extension at the Pennsylvania State college. Talks will be given by the judges and it is expected that County Agent H. R. McCulloch will make a few remarks.

Change In Name Of Electric Co.

Penn-Ohio Edison Company Is Successor Of The Penn-Ohio Electric Co.

Application for the dissolution of the Penn-Ohio Electric company was heard by Judge Chambers this morning. According to the statement of attorneys it is proposed to conduct the business under the name of the Penn-Ohio Edison company. This is a holding company for a corporations chartered in Ohio and Pennsylvania. The change in name is being made to facilitate the handling of the power, life and transportation business.

The only question that seemed to be involved was the adjustment of pending damage suits against the Penn-Ohio Electric company amounting to something over $30,000. It was explained by the attorneys that the Penn-Edison company proposed to take care of all these claims. After papers to that effect had been submitted to the court a decree of dissolution was granted.

To Decide On Motor Club Consolidation

Committee Will Meet This Afternoon To Formulate Definite Plans

Whether the motor clubs of New Castle and Ellwood City will be consolidated to form a Lawrence County Motor Club, or whether each will continue under its present management will be decided at 4 o'clock today when a committee composed of members of the boards of directors of each club meet in the office of the New Castle Motor Club.

It will be remembered that at a recent meeting of the combined boards of directors, it was decided to appoint a committee consisting of C. G. Martin, the Hon. George T. Weingartner and James P. Cope of New Castle; together with the Hon. M. A. Bickett, L. L. Gelbach and Burton J. Bell of Ellwood City, to consider the matter. Since that time it has been announced that the clubs have formed a consolidation, but that rumor has been denied at the office of the New Castle Motor Club.

Police Make Probe Of Check Passing

William L. Hill, said to be from Erie Pa., and representative in this district of a debt collecting agency, is still being held by the local authorities pending the further investigation of his alleged bad check operations here.

Since his arrest Thursday by Detective John Young, there have been six bad checks reported for which he is alleged to be responsible. One is to R. H. Blewitt for $10, one to David Palmer for $20, one to Chester Sweezy for $2.70 and three endorsed by C. E. Cox of the New Castle Tire company for $20, $25 and $20 respectively.

It is believed by the police authorities that still more of this type of checks are yet to be reported. It is probable that an information will be made in the immediate future.

Which Party's Which? Is Voters' Question

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—Once, a Republican was a Republican and a Democrat was a Democrat. Take a look at two groups of 'em today, and you can't tell which is which, they're so jumbled up.

Yet authorities there be who say they'd sort 'emselves out, if offered a choice between a real Republican candidate and a real Democrat.

It would seem as if this would be a good thing, for why vote?—if you don't know which side you're voting on. Thus reasoning, about half of us don't, which, the campaign managers tell us, is deplorable, in a republic or a democracy, or whatever this is.

To affect such a re-classification, however, in the present state of confusion, our two rival candidates must be, each, a most pronounced, unmistakable type of his own particular breed of cats—a Republican Alexander Hamilton would o. k., and a Democratic Jefferson would endorse.

Not all of our current presidential possibilities fill this bill.

For instance, we have southern Democrats who'd plunk for Frank Willis against Al Smith; seaboard Republicans who might fancy Smith above Willis.

So far as I can see, the cleanest-cut test in the coming election would be between Senators Curtis of Kansas and Reed of Missouri, respectively Republican and Democrat—beyond preadventure of a doubt.

Curtis—a "big business" conservative, a high protectionist, a defender of the doctrine that whatever Washington does is right, an imperialist (which, of course, he'll deny), a dry, and a good farm reliefer, to offset, in the corn belt, his acceptability to the "intrusts" down east.

Reed—a strictly old-fashioned constitutionalist, states rights, international isolationist, a wet, tariff for revenue only, Andy Jackson up to date.

Curtis—a wily politician, who can also fight. Reed—a terrific fighter, who's also a wonder in politics.

Curtis—tactful, ingratiating. Reed—chain lightning and TNT.

Politically—poles apart.

This pair ought to sort 'em out, north and south, east and west.

Consider the others—the principal ones.

Hoover—technically a Republican, but could run on either ticket (if you don't believe it, read his book—"American Individualism"—it's good) consequently can't possibly run, in the political sense, for president, but only for the job of nonpartisan business manager of the United States—at which, of course, he'd be a dandy, but he wouldn't sort anybody out.

Al Smith—magnetic—would attract and repel like sixty—but both, with both kinds of votes—no sorting out.

Dawes-Lowden, or Lowden-Dawes—not pronounced enough, except possibly sectionally, as to Lowden—underslung pipe and Hell-and-Maria vocabulary insufficient to sort out electorate, as to Dawes.

Al Ritchie—as genuine an original Democrat as Reed, but hasn't Reed's punch—hence couldn't sort out as many votes.

Watson and Willis—mere "favorite sons".

Norris and Borah—really belong to a separate bunch—couldn't sort out anything—might even make the mix-up worse.

All others on all sides—proposed compromises or substitutes—no sorting-out power whatever.

Of course it's a mighty long chance that both Curtis and Reed, if either, will be nominated.

But they certainly would furnish a swell contrast.

That line-up of candidates would give the voters something to vote about.

Jury Returns Two Favorable Verdicts

Each Litigant Obtain Verdict In Their Favor In Queer Case

MERCER, Pa., Feb. 24.—The only case of its kind in court history of this county was heard at the Wednesday court sessions when both litigants obtained a verdict in their favor.

The litigants, Fred Keck of Greenville and Arthur Nelson of Grove City, had an automobile accident in March of 1925 in Greenville. Each sued the other and the cases were tried together. The jury returned a verdict for each defendant, which is equivalent to letting each pay his own damage.

Farrell Bomber To Be Tried For Arson

Case Is Scheduled For April Session Of Mercer County Court

MERCER, Pa., Feb. 24.—Frank Capano, Farrell bomber of the home of ex-Mayor Fred Fish, will be arraigned at the April session of criminal court which opens on the date of April 23 and will be tried at that time for the combined charge of bombing and attempted arson.

This is the statement of District Attorney Leo McKay of Sharon, who will combine the best efforts of his office in securing a conviction at that time, says the official.

Capano was granted a new trial by court order here this week.

The court intimated in his opinion that the statute of limitations of two years had expired on the bombing charge. This will not be of any assistance in freeing Capano as at first thought it is pointed out by attorneys as he is also charged in the indictment with attempt at arson.

While it is possible that his attorneys may bar the action so far as it pertains to bombing the case will still be heard on the arson allegation, which is not barred by any statute of limitations, as it extends five years.

Further startling information is furnished in the case by the statement of Ben Marks of Farrell, one of the two attorneys for Capano, who claims to have an airtight defense if the matter comes up for hearing again, in the fact that Capano was not near the home of Fish the night of this occurrence on February 22, 1925.

He is being framed by Italians in Farrell, is the allegation of Marks. The case is certain to be the most sensational and interesting of any heard at the coming session.

TRAVELING MAN HAD DISTRESS AFTER EATING

Friends Recommended Wonderful Ten Herbs, Which Relieved His Indigestion

"I suffered with such awful indigestion that it was impossible for me to eat anything without suffering distress from sour stomach, gas, and belching," was the statement of Mr. C. D. Sailer, Seventh Avenue Hotel,

MR. C. D. SAILER

Pittsburgh, Pa., to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily demonstrating the new herbal preparation, Ten Herbs. "I was a traveling man for twelve years, and I believe that my eating at different places and at all hours of the day was the cause of my badly disordered stomach," Mr. Sailer continued. "At times, I had patches of ulcers in my mouth and on my lips. I also suffered with pains in my right side, and was unable to find anything that would give me relief.

"Friends recommended Ten Herbs, and I can truthfully say that they did not exaggerate the merits of this wonderful medicine, as it gave me complete relief. I hope that all who are suffering as I did will give Ten Herbs a trial, in which event I feel sure they will be benefited as I was".

The problem of combatting the scourge of stomach trouble, and its attending ills, has been solved by the new natural compound, Ten Herbs. This medicine not only benefits the stomach, but cleanses and invigorates the entire system, and makes life worth living for those who are weak and run down. Ten Herbs also regulates the liver and bowels, and usually makes one feel better in every way. More and more persons are coming to realize the truth of these statements, as is attested by the words of praise for Ten Herbs, given by Pittsburgh citizens, that have been printed in the local papers.

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. He will be glad to tell you how to take it to get the best results. Free sample given.

Americanization Classes Growing

Miss Moore, At International Institute, Makes Report Of Progress

An increase in members of the various English and Americanization classes of the International Institute for Foreign Women, conducted under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. and located on Pennsylvania avenue, is being noted, is the statement of Miss Emma B. Moore, head of the institute.

"Yes, the women all seem to wish to learn more and more about our country and language," says Miss Moore, "and they are becoming more and more interested in the various sewing classes which we are sponsoring. An increase in the attendance of the Polish Women's class which meets Monday at 1:30 and the Italian Women's class which meets Wednesday at 9:30, is very gratifying to those who are teaching the classes.

"In the near future we hope to have Miss Ethel Bird of Cleveland, and head of the International Institute of America, with us for a few days for morning and afternoon conferences. The Institutes of Pittsburgh, Youngstown, McKeesport and Butler will be invited to cooperate with the local Institute in this conference.

"At the present time the Institute is being instrumental in helping unite separated families, and in many other ways rendering itself useful to the foreign born people of the community."

TWO NARROWLY ESCAPE DEATH

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Feb. 24.—R. V. Deck, Logan's Ferry, and John Mitchell, Swissvale, narrowly escaped death, the latter being hurled with his machine over a 50-foot embankment on Freeport street, Parnassus, while Deck's car crashed against a telegraph pole after the two cars collided at the Freeport bridge street intersection last night. Both cars were heavily damaged, but neither driver was injured. No other persons were in the machines.

Senate Continues Search For Bonds

New Traces Of "Slush Fund" Are Being Sought By Committee

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The Senate's search for new traces of the Continental Trading company's mysterious $3,080,000 Liberty Bond "slush fund" was centered today upon the accounts of the Republican National committee in the Continental and Commercial Trust company at Chicago.

Government experts studied a list of deposits made in the Chicago bank by the Republican committee in October and November, 1923. In the latter month, the Republican deposits totaled $300,000 while over the period of the 1920 campaign, they exceeded a million dollars.

Three things made the Senate Public Lands committee view the account with interest. First, there was the $300,000 deposit in a single month, exactly three years after the 1920 campaign and at a time when the Republican National committee faced a huge deficit. Second, it was this bank to which the Dominion Bank of Canada shipped more than $2,320,346 in 1921 in behalf of the Continental Trading Company. Third, the Republican National committee used this account to pay off debts incurred in eastern banks.

The transfer of Continental funds to the Chicago bank was revealed by officials of the Dominion Bank of Canada some time ago.

Buys Fine Mated Team Of Horses

Thomas J. Cooper Receives Fine Mated Team Of Belgian Two-Year-Olds

Thomas J. Cooper, noted horseman of near Harlansburg unloaded from the train this morning as finely a mated team of sorrel Belgian colts as has been seen for some time, having been shipped from Ellwood, Ind.

Mr. Cooper states that he has purchased the team especially for exhibition at the New Castle fair next fall and from the appearance as we viewed them at the Marquis blacksmith shop this morning it seems that they will have no trouble in carrying away the ribbon, especially after a summer on the Cooper farm.

The colts which are half brothers and will both be two years in the spring are as finely a mated team as one could expect to see. They are of almost exactly same build, same size and coloring the the markings mate them almost perfectly. Each is of a dark sorrel color with silvery sorrel tails. Each has one white hind foot and a white stripe in the forehead.

The animals were bought "sight unseen" says Mr. Cooper and he had them shipped on Tuesday and they arrived in New Castle last night and were unloaded this morning. They seem to show the wear of the trip a little but Mr. Cooper said they will soon be as good as ever and after good care this summer should be quite sleek.

IMMUNIZATION FROM DIPHTHERIA

The work of immunization from diphtheria through the use of toxin anti-toxin, now being carried on in our public schools, is not only giving lifelong immunity from diphtheria to the children receiving the treatment but at the same time it is building up a wall of protection to the entire city against any epidemic of this dread disease.

In the beginning of this campaign three years ago, owing to a confusion in the minds of many school patrons, the mild toxin anti-toxin with the powerful anti-toxin, many failed to take advantage of the treatment. This misunderstanding is being gradually cleared up, although letters received by Dr. Rogers show that some parents still have the idea that anti-toxin is the treatment being given.

Dr. Rogers explains that toxin anti-toxin, the treatment being given, is mild in itself and simply stimulates the growth within the system of "anti bodies" which fight the disease of diphtheria.

Every Needle Sterilized.

The greatest care is exercised in giving the treatment. Not a single needle is used the second time without first being taken out of its holder and completely immersed in alcohol, thus insuring its sterilization.

The importance attached to diphtheria immunization work by the state department of health is shown in the fact that the expense of this costly work is borne by the state. All the children have to do is to bring the little slip containing the parent's signature authorizing the treatment and then to bear the momentary pain of the needle penetrating the skin.

The state has been carrying on the work long enough to be able to proudly display the statistics showing the marvelous decrease in mortality from diphtheria in the parts of the state already immunized.

Teachers as well as pupils are receiving the treatment this week in New Castle. In one district where a death from diphtheria occurred last year, parents have asked and received permission to bring children of preschool age for treatment.

It is both interesting and amusing to watch the operation for a little while. The most of the children scorn the display of fear or hurt. But occasionally a nervous, high-strung child shows intense relief when the slight discomfort is over.

It produces no sore arm like vaccination. At the very worst, a slight swelling of the arm results. This indicates, we are told, that the disease would take hold of the child with corresponding force.

Give an opportunits enough rope and he'll have it on the market inside of three days, in a Sumatra wrapper.—The Detroit News.

Ask Exemption Of Assessment

Council Asked To Grant Exoneration Of Assessment On Deaconess Home

Attorney Charles Davis today appeared before council, which convened in City Hall, and requested exoneration of an assessment of $1,800 against the Irene Maitland Deaconess Home, a sub-division of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church. On advice of City Solicitor Robert White, the request was referred to a committee, where it will be given full consideration.

According to the attorney, the assessment has been made as the result of new paving in Phillips and Mercer streets. He maintained that it is a charitable institution and under the state act of 1923 it is not subject to municipal liens, considered a form of taxation, as decided by the supreme court of Pennsylvania.

Davis explained that the deaconnesses reside at the home, where provisions are brought and distributed to poor and needy and that the deaconnesses carry on at the institution their work, which consists of domestic science, education and religious worship, to various people in the community, and said the institution's work is interdenominational.

He said that the people and children come to the home, which is interdenominational. The children are taken into classes, irrespective of their religion, race or nationality. I think we have between 350 and 400 children who are receiving training, teaching, and among them are Methodists, Presbyterians, Mohammedans, Catholics, Disciples and other denominations.

"No person is barred. While the home is a subdivision of the Methodist Episcopal church Women's Missionary Society, the instruction is thoroughly non-sectarian." He said the deaconesses receive no salary and the only allowance they get is for their clothing. He also told concerning the building, rooms and the purposes for which they are used.

The attorney quoted a state supreme court decision concerning a case in which a similar home in Philadelphia had been granted exemption and said that under the state law "you must do interdenominational work to receive exemption." He said the institution is that, kept up by donations and through a legacy left by Mrs. Irene Maitland, explaining: "We do not exclude anybody."

Solicitor White, in advising council, said he did not know that the facts here were the same as in Philadelphia, though Attorney Davis said they were. Council, acting on White's advice, referred the matter to committee, and Davis in reply to this action said he would be willing to let council hold a hearing on it, as he felt that the home is entitled to exemption of the assessment.

Tom Mix's Daughter Seeks Big Allowance

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 24.—Indications of a court-decreed compromise between Tom Mix, motion picture cowboy and his former wife Mrs. Olive Mix in their dispute over the allowance for their 16-year-old daughter, Ruth appeared today.

Probate Judge Crail who is considering the request filed by Mrs. Mix that her daughter's monthly allowance be raised from $50 to $1,500, expressed an informal opinion to the effect that it would be better for the girl to receive only $200 a month instead of the requested allowance.

Ruth Mix receives $50 a month under the terms of the divorce decree which separated the actor and his former wife.

LOSE NO TIME IN CALLING POLICE

Quicker Police Are Notified Better Chance Of Capture Of Guilty Ones Says Chief Horner

"It's the person, who witnesses or is the victim of some accident or criminal action or attack of other person or persons," said Chief of Police C. C. Horner this morning, "and gets in immediate touch with the police authorities, that makes it possible for the police to make worthwhile captures and have persons of criminal intent punished and locked up as they should be."

"We hope that the people in the future, will remember, that the police are constantly on the job and only waiting for an opportunity to serve them and also capture those responsible for criminal and reprehensible acts.

"We would ask that those attacked as was the little girl in Pleasant Valley, Wednesday or the girl on High-land avenue a few weeks ago, get to the first house and telephone, available, instead of running to some place of refuge known to them. A call immediately after an attack of that kind, would probably mean the capture of the person wanted.

"If there should be an automobile connected with the incident, we would ask that the license number be secured above all other things and placed in the hands of the authorities without delay.

"It was this prompt action a few weeks ago that resulted in the capture of Richard Cowan, the burglar in the Hoyt homes. If the people will just take time to think of these little things, when such incidents occur, there will be more captures, which will no doubt result in a decrease in such acts."

Send Additional Nurses To Soft Coal District

Increase Of Diseases Among Miners Families Cause For Action

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 24—Three additional nurses have been rushed to the bituminous strike fields from the state department of health by Dr. Theodore Appel, secretary of the department, he advised Gov. John S. Fisher today. An increase in diseases among miners' children caused the increase in the staff of state nurses, Dr Appel said.

A detailed report of conditions in the region was made to the governor. Childhood diseases are on the increase, the report showed. There is hardship and destitution in the district, the report said, but relief is available in some instances on application.

A central agency for the distribution of relief would aid in a large measure in remedying conditions in the bituminous region. Miss Alice M. O'Halloran, chief of the nurses' bureau, suggested to Dr. Appel. She said that while some camps are well provided for others are in need of supplies.

Coal Operators In West Virginia Are Favorable To Merger

Approximately Two-Thirds Of Operators In West Virginia To Have Mines Appraised

(International News Service)

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Feb. 24.—Coal operators representing approximately two-thirds of the coal production here in 1927 today agreed to permit appraisal of their plants with the ultimate end in view of bringing about a gigantic merger.

All said they were in favor of the merger, but reversed the right to reject appraisal and remain outside the new organization. The Consolidation Coal company, one of the largest firms in this district, is sponsoring the plan.

The operators will meet again within a month to discuss the proposition further.

Hoover Urges Compromise In Flood Control

Cabinet Member Appears Before Senate Commerce Committee Today

COOLIDGE APPROVES COMPROMISE METHOD

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24—Herbert Hoover, leading Republican presidential aspirant, met the political test of the flood control issue today when he appeared before the senate commerce committee and recommended a compromise plan for financing the Mississippi river program. He suggested the appointment of a federal commission to determine within a year the financial capacity of the stricken flood areas to help the federal government in meeting the cost of the project.

Hoover said the compromise plan originated with President Coolidge, and had the president's complete approval.

Politicians had anticipated the appearance of Hoover before the committee and freely gossiped about that Hoover was to be "embarrassed" by the questions propounded to him. Senator Willis of Ohio is a member of the committee and is said to have been instrumental in bringing Hoover before it.

His friends charged his being summoned before the committee was for the purpose of "embarrassing" him by making him choose between President Coolidge's plan of adding 20 per cent of flood control cost on the localities affected, and the southern states' and middle west plan of having the federal government pay it all. The politicians argued that if he endorsed the Coolidge plan it would cost him votes in the south and middle west, while if he favored the other he would be in the position of opposing Coolidge's policies, which, in a recent letter, he announced he would support as a presidential candidate.

Hoover nearly side-stepped the issue by proposing his compromise plan, which he said originated with President Coolidge and had his approval.

He refused to comment upon the engineering aspects of flood control, saying he was a mining engineer, not a hydraulic engineer.

Dispatch State Troopers To Aid In Mine Trouble

State Police Superintendent Orders Troopers To Proceed To Elk County

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 24. — In response to a plea for aid from the sheriff of Elk county, Maj. Lynn J. Adams, Superintendent of State Police today ordered additional state troopers into Horton township where violence between union and non-union miners is admittedly beyond the control of the sheriff.

A telegram from J. E. Jackson, the sheriff, said that demonstrations by union miners have become so frequent and violent he is unable to control the situation in the vicinity of the Shamut Mining Company's operations, where bituminous mines are being operated with non-union labor.

As is customary, Maj. Adams did not make public the number of men sent into the region, nor did he announce from which barracks they are being sent.

Jackson said that bridges had been destroyed, roads blocked, cars stoned and proclamations torn down.

Capt. Craig Will See Applicants

Office Will Be Open This Evening For Enrollment Of C. M. T. C. Students

In order that young men who do not have a chance to see him during the day can do so, Captain Melvin L. Craig, who is in charge of registration for the citizens' military training camps this summer, will be in his office, 401 Temple building, on North street, this evening between the hours of seven and 10, it was announced this morning.

While many applicants have filed their papers with the government, Captain Craig believes that there is yet room for a few boys from Lawrence county who wish to take advantage of the government's offer of a vacation in camp along the Potomac river, coupled with a military education.

The candidates, says Captain Craig, will learn to march and ride, shoot pistols, rifles, field pieces and large sea coast guns; they will learn to walk with a spring in their toes and pride in their bearing—becoming outstanding characters in body and soul.

At camp each day's activities are planned in advance so as to provide a well balanced program. There will be just enough physical exercise, drills and games to keep young bodies fit and young brains alert so that they may grasp instruction more thoroughly and with a greater enthusiasm.

To be eligible citizens must be physically fit and of good moral character. A physical examination, inoculation and vaccination against typhoid, paratyphoid and smallpox, and a certificate of good moral character are required before enrollment.

Morin To Announce Candidacy Shortly

Congressman Morin Will Announce Shortly Candidacy For Senate Post

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 24.—Congressman John M. Morin of Pittsburgh, is determined to announce his candidacy for the United States Senate formally next week, he told International News Service today.

Morin said he has not been in touch with Senator-Elect William S. Vare for several days. He would not say what his course would be in the event Vare does not support Morin's candidacy for the Senate seat now held by David A. Reed of Pittsburgh.

Morin said he knew nothing of a reported agreement between W. L. Mellon, state Republican chairman and Vare, whereby Vare was to support Reed for re-election.

Japanese Policy In China Is Cause Of Continued Feeling

(International News Service)

TOKIO, Feb. 24.—Unless Japan changes her policies toward China, continuation of friendly relations between these two great Oriental nations will be jeopardized, in the opinion of Lieutenant General Rihachiro Banzai, for 25 years military advisor to the Peking government. General Banzai recently resigned his office and returned to Japan to live, but he is devoting much time to efforts to bring about better relations between China and Japan.

The attitude on the part of Japan which General Banzai deems ill-advised is that of sending battleships and troops to China when there is trouble there. Such a policy, he declared, does not serve any useful purpose and it arouses resentment among the Chinese that reacts against Japan and the Japanese residents of China in other ways.

General Banzai is not optimistic that chaotic China soon will be restored to order. What is needed to accomplish that, he believes, is the emergence of a capable statesman like the late Yuan Shih-kai. No such savior of the country is to be found among the present crop of so-called Chinese leaders, according to the general.

Communism is not attractive to the Chinese, General Banzai asserted.

Dr. Peacock was formerly pastor of the United Presbyterian church at Sharon, which pastorate he resigned to enter the work of an evangelist. He has been conducting evangelistic meetings in many cities of the country with wonderful success. His type of message is said to be most helpful, especially appealing to the intellectual type of minds. He is also a good singer and preparations are being made to have the meetings at the East Brook church inspirational with good music.

Dr. Peacock will deliver his first message of the series at the 11:00 o'clock service Sunday morning, February 26, and meetings will be held every evening until March 19, except Saturdays. The evening meetings will be held at 8:00 o'clock each evening.

Special preparations are being made by the pastor and members of the congregation during the past weeks. In his Sabbath messages, Rev. J. Walker St. Clair, pastor of the church has been preparing for the special meetings. Mid-week prayer meetings have been revived and under the leadership of the committee excellent meetings have been had each Wednesday evening.

The following committees have been appointed and are doing everything possible to make the series of meetings a great success.

Patterson, Miss Betty Houston and Miss Florence McKee. Publicity committee: Ned Houston, Ray Maxwell and Wm. McKee. Entertainment and Finance Committee: Wm. R. Walton.

PREDICT LEPROSY WILL BE OUSTED

LONDON, Feb. 24.—Leprosy, one of the most dreaded diseases, may be brought under control, or even stamped out within the next decade, the annual report of the British Empire Leprosy Relief Association predicts. This report will be presented on Friday. It declares that leprosy can be stamped out by means of treatment with oil extracted from the dried fruit of the hydnocarpus tree.

The hydnocarpus tree is a native of South Eastern Asia. Certain of the species yield poisonous fruits, whose seeds are employed by East Indian and Chinese doctors in the treatment of contagious diseases.

It is estimated that in the British Empire alone there are 416,000 persons afflicted with leprosy. Stations for the treatment of the disease, it is declared, will be opened all over the empire, where it is prevalent. The imperial and dominion governments are co-operating in this move.

Legion Will See Wild West Life In San Antonio

(International News Service)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 24.—With plans already well advanced, San Antonio is leaving nothing undone to make the 10th annual national convention of the American Legion, to be held here from October 8th to 12th, the greatest in the history of the organization.

Preparations are under way for entertaining a crowd of 100,000 or more people and for a program of fun and frolic such as has never been staged at any previous convention.

All the romance and glamor of the Southwest will be embodied in the program of entertainment features, according to Philip B. Stapp, general convention director. San Antonio plans to infuse into the program the flavor of "Wild West" frontier life, the Mexican atmosphere and the tone given by the greatest military and aviation establishment of the United States.

Rodeos, side trips to the great ranches and border towns on the Rio Grande, entertainers from Mexico City, football games, a Broadway show, the greatest military demonstration and the most ambitious air circus ever staged at a Legion convention are a few of the features Stapp is lining up for the convention.

Rev. Walter E. McClure of the First Presbyterian church will preach a sermon Sunday night on the theme: "Will this Present Earth be Destroyed by Fire?' 'Is such a consumation possible? Is it probable? Is it to be desired? The sermon will be an exposition of a famous passage in the New Testament Scriptures. Both the predictions of scientists and the revelation of Scripture will be considered. This message will be of more than passing interest.

The morning message will be on the theme "Greatness Through Service."

The First church is mailing out literature these days concerning the Every-Member Canvass which will be taken on the second Sunday of March. The church at large is making special plans this year to reach all those who bear the name Presbyterian and enlist them in a large service for the church.

All-Metal Clothes Will Never Wear Out, Is Invention

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 24.—All-metal clothes that will never wear out are one of the possibilities of a secret invention the rights of which have been acquired by a British manufacturing firm.

The invention is the result of 18 years experimental research work and the method is entirely unlike the usual processes of metal coating and plating, it is claimed.

The manufacturers claim that by the process metal can be made to penetrate a material to a definite amount and that the new substance combines the qualities of both the original and the applied metal.

Fabrics can be treated this way; timber can be given added tensile strength, while retaining its resiliency; glass and pottery can be made unbreakable and decorated with filigree work; even paper can be metalized, it is declared.

North Sewickley Presbyterian Church To Re-Open Sunday

Rural Church In 81st Year Ready For Large Work In Community

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 24.—The old North Sewickley Presbyterian church, situated in North Sewickley township, near North Sewickley village, has been undergoing repairs during the last few months. A complete renovation on the interior has been accomplished.

The church is now ready for occupancy and will be open for services next Sabbath morning at 10 o'clock.

The church is now entering on its 81st year of service to this community, which is a landmark in this particular section of the country.

The Old Academy which served the young men and women years ago and gave them educational advantages in their day has had its effect on the community also.

The story of the beginning of the congregation which started in the woods below the place where the church now stands is an interesting one.

So the friends and neighbors, as well as the members themselves, the friends who have moved elsewhere, are pleased with the progress which is now manifested.

The pastor is a firm believer that there is still a future for the rural church, providing the people of the rural districts will only renew their efforts and do the best they know how to do.

Arrangements for a rededication service will be made at the service Sabbath morning.

New song books given by a friend will be used for the first time at the opening.

Thirty-Five Babies Brave Bad Weather For Baby Clinic

The clinic is conducted weekly in charge of Dr. H. E. Helling assisted by Miss Lorena Thompson, community nurse. All local mothers are privileged to keep account of their weights and gains of their babies through this clinic.

New Shelby Office Opens On Monday

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 24.—It is announced that the newly-completed Shelby office building has been completed and the cafeteria section of it will be open to the men of the mill on Monday.

The following Saturday it is planned to have an open house in the building all day for the benefit of the interested public.

The office building will house some of the officials of the mill, and is a brick structure situated on the Burnstown end of the tube mill holdings. It fills a long-felt need, especially the cafeteria, as the employes have long out-grown the original cafeteria in the Shelby Social club.

The estimated cost of the building is one quarter of a million dollars. Needless to state, all the latest equipment is being used in the interior.

Successful Dance At Country Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 24—In spite of the small crowd of 40 couples at the Washington dance at the country club Thursday evening, the affair was an unqualified success. The very smallness of the crowd made it possible to carry out an informal dancing program of Paul Jonses, etc., that made the evening one hilarious round. The orchestra, one from the valley, wore clever uniforms and their music was just as unique as their costumes.

At the conclusion of the program a midnight supper was served in the grill. W. R. Johnston headed the committee in charge of the affair.

Police Hunt For Men Suspected Of Ellwood Robbery

Stolen Machine Is Wrecked And Two Thieves Injured

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Feb. 24.—Stealing an automobile in Pittsburgh, driving to Rochester, asking a newspaperman the way to New Castle, driving to Ellwood City, breaking into a garage at Ellwood City, stealing another car, robbing a clothing store, wrecking a car, imposing on the hospitality of a farmer, making their escape and believed hiding in Pittsburgh, was all in a night's work for four young men who are wanted by state police as a result of their crimes.

The Epic Of Beecher's Island—Part XXII

IN REACHING BEECHER'S ISLAND, CAPT. CARPENTER, COMMANDING THE RELIEF COLUMN, RAN TO CREET THE WOUNDED "SANDY" FORSYTH. THE LATTER WAS SO OVERCOME WHEN HE KNEW THAT HELP HAD AT LAST ARRIVED AND SAW HIS BROTHER-OFFICER APPROACHING, THAT TO HIDE HIS EMOTION HE PRETENDED TO BE READING A BOOK ONE OF HIS SCOUTS HAD UNEARTHED FROM HIS SADDLEBAGS.

ALL AROUND BEECHER'S ISLAND WERE SIGNS OF THE DESPERATE STRUGGLE THAT HAD TAKEN PLACE. THE BODIES OF FORTY INDIANS AND THE CARCASSES OF MANY PONIES STILL LAY IN THE DRY BED OF THE ARICKAREE. THE INDIAN LOSS WAS ESTIMATED AS SEVENTY-FIVE KILLED AND TWO HUNDRED WOUNDED.

CARPENTER'S CAVALRYMEN GAVE THE RATIONS IN THEIR SADDLEBAGS TO FORSYTH'S MEN, AND SOON AFTER THE ARRIVAL OF THE REST OF THE RELIEF COLUMN WITH THE SUPPLY WAGONS, THE HUNGRY SCOUTS WERE ENJOYING THEIR FIRST REAL MEAL IN MORE THAN A WEEK.

THAT NIGHT THE COLORED TROOPERS OF THE TENTH CAVALRY STOOD GUARD, FOR THERE WAS STILL DANGER THAT THE CHEYENNE MIGHT RETURN, AND FORSYTH'S MEN ENJOYED A MUCH-NEEDED REST.

TOMORROW—CONCLUSION.

Naval Building Program Shrinks From $740,000,000 To Bare $274,000,000

By WM. S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. — The ambitious $740,000,000 Naval building program launched by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur some weeks ago shrunk Thursday to $274,000,000 dimensions, or about one-third of what was originally proposed.

The House Naval Committee brought out a bill which bore but slight resemblance to the original Wilbur program, which aimed at the construction of 74 new ships, including cruisers, destroyer leaders, submarines, and aircraft carriers.

Only 16 new ships are contemplated in the House program, fifteen 10,000-ton cruisers, and one airplane carrier to cost $13,500,000. The cruisers will cost $17,000,000 each.

It was provided, however, that the ships are to be laid down in three years, and be all completed in six years.

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—A newspaper friend of mine tells me of an assignment to a pistol duel between a gang of young bandits and police. The fight took place at noon only 50 feet away from a station house. Policemen told him that they had captured the leader of the gang, a vicious and very desperate young man, who had not only cooly opened fire, when accosted by a traffic officer, but who was the guiding genius of a long string of stick-ups. He was, police said, as dangerous a fellow as they had ever captured.

My friend, the reporter, entered a rear room where prisoners are taken for questioning.

"Where is this mug?" he asked.

An officer pointed.

Surrounded by a group of questioning detectives, his face one fearful scowl, my friend saw the amiable young man who had knocked on his door the other night, explaining that he had just moved in and wanted to borrow an ice pick.

What price the sylph-like figure? There's a chubby little chorine in "Take the Air" who has her sister hoofers all burnt up. After living for months on spinach, rhubarb, sauerkraut juice and assorted hay, it must be discouraging to find a girl with what used to be called a "figure" making off with the applause. For the little chorine in question weighs one hundred and thirty-five pounds, which for her profession is downright obese.

There is still some talk about abolishing trains on "death avenue", otherwise Eleventh avenue. It is a queer relic in a city that prides itself on its modern efficiency. Not only do trains run along the actual street, but they are pulled by steam, not electric locomotives. Due to an excessive number of killings, at one time, the trains now crawl along at a pace slower than a man's walk. In fact, a flagman usually accompanies a train, stopping at every street to signal autos and pedestrians.

Observations made on revisiting burlesque theaters in One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street: Compared to the voice of the average burlesque chorine, the note issuing from an ungreased wagon wheel is melodious .... people in evening dress are sprinkled about in the audience, seeming to indicate that Harlem's black and tan vogue among the fashionables has been shifted slightly in the direction of downtown.

Sage Tea Dandy to Darken Hair

By DOROTHY LANG

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. It costs only 75 cents. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Rebuilding Work Progresses Steadily At P.-O. Co. Building

Workmen are rebuilding the front of the building which houses the Pennsylvania Power and Electric company, Public Square and Cochran way and when completed the company will possess one of the most up-to-date display rooms in the city.

The display room will contain the most modern electrical appliances and persons can actually see, not only in the display room but other offices on the first floor how the building has been fitted out relative to commercial lighting. In fact consumers who wish information regarding any electrical appliance will be able to gain the information by visiting the display room when it is remodeled.

The cashier's department, offices of C. C. Coulthard and Louis Round, dispatcher's office, employes and patrons waiting rooms are located on the first floor. The second floor will be occupied by the railway offices and bookkeeping department when finished and the rear second floor will be occupied by the meter department. The front of the building will have two large windows on the ground floor and the front will be trimmed in Indiana limestone.

There will be two entrances to the building, one in Washington street and one in Cochran way. At the present time entrance to the building where street car tickets and electric matters are taken care of is located on the Cochran way side.

Impartiality Is U. S. Viewpoint In Nicaragua

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. — The American government will observe absolute impartiality in the forthcoming Nicaraguan elections, Secretary of State Kellogg asserted Thursday in a signed statement.

"I desire once more to state with the utmost emphasis," he said, "that the United States is maintaining and will continue to maintain an attitude of absolute impartiality in all matters relating to the Nicaraguan elections.

"The United States will favor neither any candidate nor any party in that election. All its representatives have been definitely instructed in that sense from the beginning, and this government knows of no violations whatever of those instructions."

WHAT A POWERFUL NEW GASOLINE

AMAZING as it may seem here is a new and better gasoline—more powerful than any you ever put into your tank—that costs no more!

You pay no premium for this snappy, zestful fuel, simply because it is a product of revolutionary methods employed by one of America's greatest refiners. It is "cracked" by a new process—then pressure-vaporized in Pennzoil's new gasoline plant.

The result is a superior gasoline. Quick as a hair trigger on a cold morning's start. Free from power-robbing knocks. Can't be beaten for mileage. And won't gum the valves.

Try it—today—tomorrow—next time you need gasoline. See the difference it makes. It will be a revelation to you.

Look out for sore throat

Play safe—gargle often

After long exposure to bad weather, after sudden changes of temperature, after mingling with crowds—gargle with Listerine, the safe antiseptic, when you get home.

This pleasant precaution has nipped many a cold and sore throat in the bud, before they became serious.

Listerine, being antiseptic, immediately attacks the countless bacteria that lodge in the mouth and throat where so many colds start. It is important, however, that you use it early—and frequently.

Most of the fall and winter months are "sore throat months" and for your own protection use Listerine night and morning. It is a good habit to acquire. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Senator Reed Says Henry Ford Quit As Sapiro Case Was Won

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 24.—Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, refused Thursday to enlarge upon a remark he made before the lawyers of the Shawnee County Bar Association which he accused Henry Ford of "lying down" after Reed had practically "won the case" in the suit of Aaron Sapiro against the motor magnate.

As Senator Reed was introduced to the lawyers, Judge L. S. Ferry, presiding over the gathering, referred to Senator Reed as "the man who gave lawyers everywhere a great thrill over his reported fee in the Ford case."

"All I want to say regarding that case," said Senator Reed, who was chief counsel for Ford, "is that, whatever the amount of the fee, it was not big enough to pay me for a client lying down after I had won my case."

Locates His Son After 18 Years

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 24.—After a search lasting many years and extending all over the United States and into foreign countries, John Swiger, Harrison county, farmer, residing at Brown, has at last found his wandering son, Carl, who, peeved, ran away from home 18 years ago. Lately the missing son had been given up for dead.

The son was found clerking in a hotel at Santa Rosa, Cal., where a friend of the family saw him recently. Impressed by the resemblance the friend sent word to the father, who left at once for Santa Rosa, whence word came today that parent and son had been happily reunited. Both are planning to return to Brown for a reunion with other relatives and friends.

Terry May Be "Through" But He's Not Forgotten

Former Lightweight Mingled With Fast Company In Heyday

STILL BELIEVES HE CAN WHIP YOUNGSTERS

By ED FRITZ

Battling Terry, a boxer we'll never forget, not if we grow to be bald pated, wear false teeth and use a cane to keep our beard from sweeping the street. He was one of the most spectacular lightweights the ring has had and even though he is now flirting with 36 or 37 years he wants to fight. There was a time when some of the best boys in the ring didn't want to fight him.

"Yes, sir, I really believe that I can go on the road for a month, box six rounds every day, get my legs strong, quicken my eye and outpoint such fellows as Jimmie Kilpatrick and the rest of 'em who are earning the cheers up there at the Old Armory," said the Battler to the writer a few nights ago.

Think of it, boys, 36 or 37 and anxious to fight.

Then think of the boys he fought, real boys like Phil Brock, Sammy Trotz, Joe Welling, Tommy Kilbane, Tommy Jones, Red Robinson, Packey McFarland, Howard Trimble, Frankie O'Brien, Hal Stewart, Al Dewey, Battling Gates, Johnny Kilbane, Willie Gradwell, etc.

Some opponents, you'll agree.

No Braggadocio.

Terry is a quiet spoken chap, a boy who did his fighting in the ring and not on the street corner. He gave the best that was in him and he made anybody fight who climbed through the ropes to shake his hand at the bell. But the last fight in which he appeared settled his career, and wrote finis to a busy ring life. It was the fight with Charlie Chip which the writer refereed.

And now something about Terry's early days:

Years ago when he was a member of the Jimmie Dime stable—and it was a real stable then, don't forget it—he had as a mate Danny Dunn, manager of Johnny Risko, and Jimmie Dunn and a host of other live wires pugilistically. Danny Dunn was a smart boy. His success with John Risko is sufficient proof of his astuteness now.

Terry leathered Danny every time they trained and it wasn't long until Danny would have put him under the sod had he been of the vicious type. He tried in various ways to get even with Terry but never succeeded until one day when Terry had given him a lacing, as the Battler never pulled his punches.

"C'mon box, Terry," said Jimmie Dunn while Danny stood by.

"All right, Jim, couple of rounds," replied Terry.

"Let Him Die!"

They were going great guns when suddenly Jimmie, who liked to belabor "the boys", hooked Terry and down he went, cold.

He didn't get up right away and Dunn thought he had delivered a fatal blow.

"Go, run, get some water. Quick!" shouted Dunn to Danny.

Danny Dunn never moved. A slow smile lit his face.

"Hurry up, what are you mopin' around about. Get that water!" shouted the frenzied Jimmie.

"Let him go," shouted Danny as he ran out of the gymnasium.

Terry, however, was just knocked cold and came too, but as far as Danny Dunn was concerned, he didn't care.

Another time, Dime matched Terry for a bout and Danny Dunn being "broke" (he's got plenty of "it" now) wanted that fight and didn't know how to get it.

An idea evolved itself so he said one morning: "C'mon Terry, let's run together today."

"Gee, I'm thirsty. I'm making weight, you know," said the Battler as they raced to Cascade park.

"That so," responded cunning Danny. "You ought to drink some of that mineral water, it would cut out your thirst and help you lose weight," he replied.

Terry Falls Hard.

Terry imbibed of the spring water, not that day but on successive days and Danny, who could drink plenty of it and still not weigh as much as the weight at which Terry was to fight, never missed his little mouthful.

The day before the fight arrived and Dime put Terry on the scales to see his poundage.

"Say, Terry, you're overweight. What have you been doing anyway? That fellow will never fight you at your weight," said Dime.

"Don't know, Jim, unless it was that water that made me fat."

Dime fumed then remarked:

"You're off, I'll have to use Danny Dunn."

And Danny's cunning got him the bout but no one else ever pulled a similar stunt again on the battler who at that date was only a young boy who wasn't sharp enough for Cunning Danny. Some day we'll publish a story or two how Terry beat some good opponents through ring trickery.

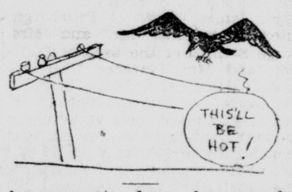
HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

George Chip and Buck Crouse, former greats and opponents whenever any promoter said the word, are reported "at it again." Chip is said to have offered, through a friend, to "fight Crouse for his cane and spats." Crouse is alleged to have replied: "So he thinks he can beat me, eh? All right, let him name the date and place, use eight ounce gloves and I'll hang up the cane and spats as the stakes." Both are passe pugilistically and it is doubtful if they will ever clash again in the ring but a word, spoken by either too hastily in each other's company would prove a lighted match in a powder keg.

Our friend Hearless Brown did not attend Monday night's bout at the Old Armory and somewhat mystified by his absence, we sent out an emissary and learned that Hearless has been ill with the la grippe. Mrs. Brown accuses Hearless of having contracted the illness while sporting around with Jonathan Doubt, which according to Hearless is all wrong as Jonathan has been out of the city trying to find capital for a noiseless shoe company. Jonathan believes that married men who have an inclination for late hours would fall for a noiseless pair of brogans.

Is Frankie Rio to meet the same fate as Jack Herman, next Monday night at the Old Armory A. C. Jack and Red Jadabird fought at Erie and Jack gave Red a good shellacking. They fought the second fight here and Herman was on the floor in the sixth round. In a third battle Jadabird knocked out Jack in jigtime. Rio has stopped every foe he has met here, excepting Pollock. He had Pollock down for nine in the sixth but Johnny weathered the storm and went the limit. He showed no lassitude in signing for a second bout which clearly explained that Pollock held no fear of Rio.



Arrangements have been made whereby Rio and possibly Pollock will work out at the Old Armory, the day before the fight and persons who would like to see how pugilists taper off for pugilistic encounters have the privilege of witnessing the preparatory work, gratis. Rio is trained by Jimmie Dunn along lines far different to the methods employed by other managers as Dunn has found his system good and reliable from the days of Kilbane to the late Paul Kohler, the rugged Bryan Downey, wildcat Carl Tremaine and he hopes to reach the top ranks with Rio. Pollock trains along orthodox lines and will have many supporters when he crawls into the ring against the ex-Sharon boy.

Peter Fisher, Amsterdam, N. Y., was injured at Tia Juana and is in a hospital at Ajo, south of Phoenix, Ariz. However, his injuries resulted from an auto crash while journeying to New Orleans. He is unconscious.

New Castle High Needs Victory In Evans City Game

New Castle High Basketball Team To Play Evans City In Final Game

New Castle High school basketball team will close their Section III league schedule at Evans City on Saturday night. The locals need a victory over the fast Evans City team to deadlock Butler for the sectional title.

Evans City High has been playing a snappy game of basketball of late and they may upset the dope tomorrow night with a victory over the red and black artists. New Castle won the game here from Evans City early in the season by a healthy score.

Coach Bridenbaugh has his charges primed for a victory Saturday night. Should Butler lose to New Brighton tonight at Butler, New Castle can win the Section III title by defeating Evans City High. In event Butler and New Castle both win their final games, it will be necessary to play another game to determine the championship and the right to represent the section at Pittsburgh.

CLARENCE ROWLAND

Clarence Rowland, the last man to lead the Chicago White Sox to a world's championship, has at last passed from the American League.

The last few years Clarence acted as an umpire in the junior circuit, but when the roll was called for 1928 the name of "Pants" Rowland was not included.

Rowland, it is understood, clung steadfastly to his friendship with Ban Johnson, former head of the league, and now, with another hand bossing things, "Pants" is out.

As manager of the White Sox Rowland carried his club to the pennant and a post-season win over the Giants in the fall of 1917. In his other two years he finished second and third.

CHARLEROI SIGNS DRAVOSBURG YOUTH

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., Feb. 24.—Bob Foster of Dravosburg, Pa., erstwhile pitcher for the Beltzhoover club of the Allegheny county league, signed Thursday with the Charleroi club of the Middle Atlantic league for mound duty.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

Francis Hogan, young Giant catcher an unknown a year ago, already finds himself asking in the limelight of public attention as a result of the trade which sent him to the New York Giants, with Outfielder Welch, in exchange for Rogers Hornsby.

In Hot Springs, Ark., the day the Giant battery squad arrived there for preliminary workout before joining the regulars at Augusta, Ga., Hogan was the big topic under discussion.

Now, ordinarily, a rookie catcher would receive very little attention alongside the regular battery men and the old-timers. But that day found most folks turning their attention toward Hogan.

"There's the chap who was traded to the Giants in that Hornsby deal," said the fans, as they watched the men unlimber the first time. The 18 other members of the squad played second fiddle.

Apparently Hogan isn't the kind of a lad that this sort of attention will make self-conscious. He showed his complete disregard for the ordinary conventions when he delivered himself of the immortal remark that the deal was one in which "the Giants got the best of it."

Hogan immediately—on his arrival at Hot Springs—found himself wished into the rounds of golf and what not outlined for the visitors. He took advantage of the extra training period to cut down his weight. If he faces a handicap in making the grade with the New York club it is the handicap of a tendency to become heavy. He can carry some weight, however, as he stands over six feet tall and has a huge frame.

Sam Rice, of the Griffith clan, was in his element, as usual. Rice takes golf trophies in the spring tournaments at Hot Springs the way a sugar baby takes a sugar papa.

Rice is preparing for his usual year in the outer garden for the Washington Senators. He and Jess Petty, Brooklyn left-hander are among the other major leaguers who limbered up aging muscles at the resort.

Major league clubs seeking a first baseman for future use may well focus their attentions and scouts on "Lefty" Boss, former Louisiana Polytech diamond star, who is due to get a tryout with the Little Rock club of the Southern League this spring.

At least folk around Ruston, Ark., home of the Louisiana Poly institution, will tell you that.

Boss hails from Junction City, near Ruston, but the college town has claimed him ever since he broke into the limelight there.

Ever been to Ruston?

One of those towns where you can leave your hand luggage resting in the public square all afternoon and find it there when you come back. The college gives it a "zip", too, that's good for any progressive town.

But to get back to Boss.

He might still be a valuable member of the Poly nine, but for the fact that he and the faculty disagreed over a matter of policy.

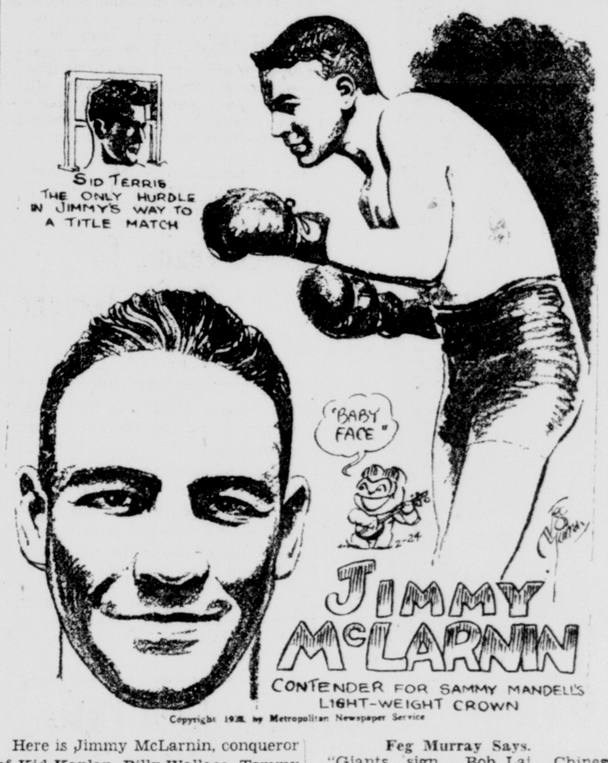
Up to that time he had been starring as a college pitcher and first baseman. A sort of a second George Sisler.

Ray Logsdon, editor of the Ruston Leader, who played baseball around Missouri, Kansas and Arkansas for several years, is one of Boss' boosters.

Logsdon played second base on leading semi-pro teams, and later captained the 157th Infantry team at Camp Kearney, Cal., during war days.

"He's a swell ball player," says Logsdon. "And he'll easily learn the fine points when he gets up there."

The Next Champion? By Feg Murray



Here is Jimmy McLarnin, conqueror of Kid Kaplan, Billy Wallace, Tommy Cello, Jackie Fields, Fidel La Barba and other fisctic celebrities who battles Sid Terris in New York tonight for the right to a shot at the lightweight crown guarded so carefully by the so-called champion Sammy Mandell.

Jimmy, called the "Belfast Spider" started fighting professionally in 1924 after a year as an amateur boxer. He was born in Ireland in 1905 and came to America as a baby. In fact he was born as a baby, too which may or may not have had something to do with the nickname "Baby Face McLarnin" which he carries along with his "Irish Insect" monicker. Probably it is due to the cherubic expression he wears on his pan.

But don't get the idea that he is a baby in the ring. Far from it unless you want to call him a Belting Baby. He knocked out Jackie Fields in the second round of their fight three years ago and broke his opponent's jaw. He gave Kid Kaplan the second knockout of his career and then outpointed Billy Wallace who had put the first K. O. on the Kid.

Jimmy frankly admits that he is in the game for the money he can make out of it and that he would not continue as a fighter if he could make as much doing anything else. He is wise in figuring that he is foolish to stick around until one is disfigured and punch drunk. You won't find Jimmy McLarnin among the "slug nutty" in a few years.

Feg Murray Says.

"Giants sign Bob Lai, Chinese star."—News item.

Savoia Juniors Trim Ramblers

The Savoia Juniors won their fifteenth straight game last night on the Lincoln-Garfield floor by defeating the Rambler Juniors 17 to 13.

The first quarter found the teams of even terms at 4-4, but at the end of the first half the Savoia boys had a lead of 8 to 5. The Savoia team never lost the lead throughout the game.

The entire Savoia team played a fine brand of basketball, while the work of L. Lewis with three buckets was best for the losers.

The summary:

Savoia Juniors 17		Ramblers 13
Ciotto	F	Taylor
E. Gennock	F	Neyman
Ciccone	C	E. Lewis
DeGregory	G	L. Lewis
DiCarbo	G	Quarello

Subs: Scopio, Russo, Pagley, Corio, Rielly, Nocera, Toney, Dennis. Field goals: E. Gennock, Ciccone 2, Neyman, E. Lewis, L. Lewis 3. Fouls: Savioa Juniors 11 out of 19. Ramblers 3 out of 15. Referee: E. Solomon.

Johnny Kraft Team Sensation

Shoots Six Baskets In Succession When Placed In Game At New York

How one of the local boys came through when playing for the Great Neck, N. Y., Aces, was graphically described this morning by Alex Samuels, local basketball fan, when he told of the stellar work that Johnny Kraft has been doing for that team.

It was in the fourth quarter of a game between the Great Neck Aces and the Great Neck High School, says Mr. Samuels, and the Aces were trailing the High school by four points. The coach and the manager of the Aces were frantic, because the Aces were composed of all college men, and to be beaten by a high school quintet would be adding insult to injury.

Now Johnny had not been practicing with the Aces for over a month, and when practicing it was in a half hearted fashion, for Johnny has much to keep his mind occupied in the Big City.

But the coach and the manager decided to take a chance and play a dark horse, so Johnny was injected into the game.

From that time on, things began to look brighter, much, much brighter for the Aces. Although there were but a few minutes to play, Johnny shot six successive baskets, thereby winning the game and a permanent berth for himself on the team of the Great Neck Aces.

Sport Ritticisms

Antwerp is going to be so crowded during the Olympic ga[illegible] that the Americans are going to s[illegible]p on their ship. So nobody will have a kick coming, they'll be in the same boat.

* * *

The situation reminds of Paris during the 1924 Olympic games. The place was so full that a fellow couldn't get inside a hotel until he had taken off his topcoat.

People slept on pool tables—one person for each pocket. Chandeliers rented at a premium, while lamp posts were reserved far in advance.

A chap in the Rue de la Paix twitched his eyebrow and caused a hopeless traffic jam. Persons were pried out of street cars and blasted out of taxicabs.

A number of Parisians live in sewers and the reason did not become apparent to the American eye until 1924. The big pipes were the only place in town where you could wriggle your ears without jostling someone.

Hotel bell hops would have made a fortune, but the lobbies were so packed the boys couldn't get their palms up to grab the tips.

Geneva To Play Waynesburg On Valley Court

Geneva Hopes For Victory Tonight And Second Place In Conference

BEAVER FALLS, Feb. 24.—Geneva battles Waynesburg on the Beaver Falls high school floor tonight in what should be an interesting battle. Waynesburg comes to Beaver Falls fresh from two victories over W. & J., runners-up to Pitt in the so-called "Big Four conference". A win for Geneva tonight places them in a position whereby they can attain third place in the conference standing by defeating Bethany on the local floor on Monday night.

The Covenanters, full strength for the first time this year and playing constantly good ball, have their minds set on finishing the conference race in second place. Geneva easily defeated Allegheny on the Methodists' floor last Tuesday, the first Geneva basketball victory in Meadville in ten years. Friedman, the Covenanters' high scorer, is playing sensational ball and Captain Rubenstein's return to the lineup has given the team much offensive help. The Geneva Reserves, with a long string of victories will play the Standard Sanitary a preliminary game. The Bethany game played on Monday night, has been moved up a day, being originally scheduled for Tuesday night.

Mishap Occurs At Croton And East Washington Streets On Thursday

Martin Hietsch, 526 Lyndal street, was enroute north on South Croton avenue Thursday, according to the report at the police station, when at East Washington street he started to make a left hand turn onto Washington street, at the direction of Traffic Officer Schuler. Just as he started to do so a lady stepped from the curb in front of the New Castle Dry Goods store in front of his machine.

The right front fender of the Hietsch machine struck her, knocking her to the ground. She got up herself and declined to give either her name or address to Mr. Hietsch or Officer Schuler. She said that she was not hurt.

T. D. Young, 102 North Walnut street, reported Thursday that he was driving north on North Walnut street and making a left hand turn onto Croton avenue, when he stopped for the stop sign. Before he could get started away a car bearing Pennsylvania license 755-072 going north on Croton avenue, ran into and damaged his car.

Wampum Is Foe At Wilmington

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 24.—Again tonight the New Wilmington basketball team will spring into action on the local floor with the Wampum high school quintet as opponents. Following the setback at Mercer last week, the college town team is out to win tonight's contest.

In all probability the game will not be close for Coach Wiggins now has his squad of youngsters playing fairly good basketball while Wampum has yet to show any exceptional form. The starting New Wilmington lineup will probably place Patterson and Hartwell at forward, Newton at center, and Captain Herriott and McConnell at guard.

As a preliminary contest, the New Wilmington Collegians will play the Temple Isreal five of New Castle.

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 24.—With three games of the intra-mural schedule at Westminster already played, the schedule will again call for a game tomorrow afternoon (Saturday) when the Kappa Phi Lambda team plays the Epsilon Theta Pi five.

RECEIVE NEW TIP IN JAWORSKI CASE

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 24 — County detectives were undecided today whether to consider the latest Jaworski "tip" seriously or as a joke. Chief of county detectives George Murren received a telegram asking if Paul Jaworski, the Coverdale mine payroll bandit, was still wanted and stating that the correspondent believed he knew where the fugitive is in hiding.

Jaworski, under death sentence for slaying a Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation pay guard, shot his way to freedom from the Allegheny county jail with another prisoner several months ago. A big reward has been offered for his capture.

Detectives are investigating the latest "tip."

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—After reaching slightly higher price levels at the opening of the market today, the industrial speculative leaders were again swept downward by a wave of selling which was particularly severe in the specialties. The market made a feeble response to the $91,000,000 decrease in speculative borrowing as revealed in the Reserve Board's report. Most traders choosing the opportunity to sell stocks rather than to add to present commitments.

International Nickel and United States Rubber were again under fire, losing about 2 points each at 75 and 46 respectively. Selling of Nickel is based on reports that the pool in this stock is anxious to withdraw from the scene as soon as possible, some disappointment having been felt in the shrinkage of the prospects of profit in the newly discovered ore veins. United States Rubber's weakness followed reports of a serious falling off in current earnings, last year's income being reported at less than the preferred stock dividend requirements.

"Where did you buy that miracle hat?"

"I'm sorry, but I don't think I know what hat you are referring to."

"Well, yesterday you had a new hat on and I understand someone was calling it a miracle hat."

"I remember someone telling me how well it becomes me, but I can't seem to recall anyone calling it a miracle hat."

"Indirectly someone did. If a hat can become a girl I certainly would call it a miracle hat."

Sullivan Firm In Fight Over Congress Seat

Pittsburgh Alderman Determined To Oppose Morin Or Run Individually

WILL NOT BACK DOWN ONE INCH

Scoffs At Idea Of Faction Supporting Him; Stand Creates State Stir

By CARL L. TURNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 24. — While Washington advices told of an agreement being reached between the Vare and Mellon forces to avert a split in the Republican state organization over the congressional race in the thirty-fourth district, Patrick J. Sullivan, Pittsburgh alderman, reiterated today that he "will remain in the congressional contest until the last ballot is counted."

Sullivan, a powerful figure in the thirty-fourth district, wants the seat of Congressman James M. Morin, who in turn has asserted that if he is not in receipt of the state organization's support for re-election he will oppose David A. Reed in the senatorial contest.

Little Importance

Reports from the National capital are to the effect that both Vare and Mellon factions consider the Pittsburgh congressional fight of too little importance to permit it to cause a breach within the party with a presidential election approaching.

If the Mellon and Vare interests have agreed to submerge the Morin-Sullivan controversy, as reported, the outcome of the district fight remains much in doubt. At any rate, Sullivan said he is determined to stand pat.

"Nobody is going to take me out of the primaries," he asserted. "I was solicited by the people of my district, and I'm dealing with the ward chairmen. I never gave my word in my life that I didn't keep it. The situation will take care of itself."

"What faction in your district is supporting you?" he was asked.

"What do you mean 'faction'?" he replied. "There is only one faction in my district. We are Republicans."

Sullivan either chose to ignore or professed ignorance of the stir his candidacy has created through the state.

GROCERY STORE IS ROBBED OF $600

(International News Service)

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 24.—Six hundred dollars in cash was stolen from the safe of his grocery at Juniata sometime during the night, it was reported by Harry Hatch to police here today.

A broken coal-iron door led to the belief that the burglar slid down a coal-shute from the sidewalk to the basement and then made his way to the store.

That earthquake reported in Maine may be only the preliminary stirring for that all-important act, "as goes Maine, so goes the nation." — The Terre Haute Star.

Outrages Charged Against Police In Mining District

Senate Coal Committee Learns That Coal And Iron Police Are Hateful

SEVERAL TESTIFY AGAINST OFFICERS

By KENNETH CLARK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 24.—Charges that a reign of terror, instigated by coal and iron police, existed in the Moon Run camp of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, were made before the senate special coal investigating committee today by a number of striking miners.

The hearing was held in the front room of a tiny country store.

"Every crime in the calendar has been perpetrated by the coal and iron police," said James Oinsadale, chief of the union pickets. "They have assaulted and beaten up our miners."

He was followed by Mrs. Mary Kuick, proprietor of the store, and Mrs. Thomas Bresler, wife of the local constable.

Mrs. Kuick testified that some time ago two coal and iron police, with drawn guns, entered her store in search of strikers. They poked their guns in the face of her children and thrust them aside, knocking one to the floor. The little boy was hit on the head by one of the policemen.

The policeman then went next door to the home of Mrs. Bresler, where her father was lying on his death bed. The police called vile names at him and kicked her around the room.

Other witnesses testified that they had been attacked and kicked and beaten by the police who, although in the employ of the coal company are commissioned by the state.

From Moon Run the committee went to the Allegheny valley where is located the New Kensington mine, scene of the recent explosion which killed 12 men.

GALVESTON, Texas, Feb. 24.—The eight story Hotel Royal, located on one of the busiest downtown corners of Galveston, today was a smouldering ruins.

Nearly two hundred guests who were asleep in the building when the fire was discovered, shortly before midnight, on the seventh floor, reached the street in safety.

Bible Scholars In New Confusion Over Israelite Exodus

(International News Service)

JERUSALEM, Feb. 18.—Old Testament scholars here have been thrown into confusion by recent theories concerning the date and the route of the Israelites from Egypt.

The last blow was delivered by Professor T. E. Peet who in a recent lecture in London refuted the theory that Rameses II was the Pharoah of the Oppression.

He maintained also that the peninsula now known as Sinai of the Bible and the route commonly believed to have been followed by the Israelites is a good deal south of the one in which the Jews spent forty years.

One of the store cities built by the Israelites was called Rameses. This according to Professor Peet, has led to the theory that Rameses II was the Pharoah who gave the Jews so much trouble. The discovery in 1896 of the Stela of Merenptah disposes of that theory. It showed that as early as the 5th year in the reign of Merenptah, the immediate successor of Rameses II, Israel was already settled in Palestine.

Scholars later accepted as correct the Biblical dating of the Exodus 480 years before the building of Solomon's Temple, giving the year the Jews left on their wanderings as 1446 B. C.

Although from Syrian sources it is known that a people called Khabiru were at that time trying to force their way over the Jordan, Professor Peet has declared that it is not at present possible to indentify the Hebrews with these nomads.

The tracing of the earlier part of the route from Egypt to the desert is difficult because the Greek version of the Bible substitutes the Red Sea for the Hebrew original "Sea of Reeds."

Everything seems to be going along in perfect normalcy over in Indiana. They're bringing a governor to trial again.—The Cleveland News.
